

If you don't like the Kama'aina News, READ IT!

Kama'aina News

FREE

Volume 2, No. 5

Published by the Obstreperous Patriot, Maui, Hawaii

Special Edition: April, 1990

A paper by the people. for the people...

SPECIAL EDITION PROTEST

BIG ISLAND MARCH NETS 141 ARRESTS IN RAINFOREST

SPECIAL EDITION

INSIDE THIS ISSUE...

Diverse Groups Unite
...See Page 3

Protesters Duped?
...See Page 4

Report from Court
by von Hartmann
...See Page 6

Pele Defense Fund
Update by Palikapu Dedman
...See Page 8

Plus: Jean-Jacques Cousteau, Lee Iacocca, Cal Thomas, and our regular features: Open Forum, Real Food, Mars Hill,
Poetry Corner and much more

LETTER FROM

Thornton Massie Tice

THE PUBLISHER

Kama'aina News Seeks Seed Capitol

Those of us who understand the importance of the Kama'aina News going state-wide are seeking funds for that work. The plan is to have a separate Kama'aina News on each island, supported by separate advertising bases and yet all connected to a central Kama'aina News Network for the transmission of local information, articles and letters submitted to the OPEN FORUM. Each paper will of course be able to draw from the KN Network as well and also to draw upon the many syndicated columnists and cartoons.

The most important aspect of course will be the clear and concise reporting of polls and information to keep the people abreast of their collective thought and those who are in agreement with the majority desire of the populace. It is important to let the people of our great state know that others are also concerned with the same issues.

To do this takes money and we as a newspaper just over a year old are short of the funds to grow into a statewide organization in such an early stage of our steady growth. Therefore we are seeking some seed capitol for this venture. We need $50,000 and are willing to pay 20% annual interest for a two year note with interest-only monthly payments.

If you are interested in lending your assistance to the Kama'aina News please phone Attorney Lunsford Dole Phillips in Honolulu at (808) 533-1734.

Andrae Sakharov Murdered By Gorbachev?

In a past issue I accused Gorbachev of being responsible for the murder of Andrae Sakharov. Several people have asked me how I could make such an accusation when we are apparently making such strides towards peace. And there is no evidence for such a claim that I could use to document such a claim.

In America there is a type of evidence that is sometimes used called "circumstantial evidence." Since we of course can't expect the KGB (and I'm also referring to our own "Kinder, Gentler Bush") to provide us with hard evidence, let's look at the circumstantial evidence involved which has "conveniently" been overlooked by the controlled media in America.

Andrae Sakharov was a leader and a world respected dissident. He was a human rights activist. He had moved from prisoner to power in politics. The world was listening to Sakharov as well as Gorbachev. In power, Sakharov had moved to a seat that was just below Gorbachev in the grand assembly of Russian politicians.

In his last attendance there before he suddenly died, he turned to Gorbachev seated just behind him and demanded a representative government. Gorbachev shouted "Shut up! Go to my office immediately." The next thing that we hear about Sakharov is that he has died. That his health had been poor because of his imprisonment and that he died of natural causes.

Of course Gorbachev instituted a representative government shortly thereafter and hailed Sakharov a great champion of human rights. So why should we suspect Gorbachev? He had a great motive. That is something else considered in murder trials in America. That motive of course being that he had the most to lose.

If Sakharov had lived he might be the president of Russia today. He had suffered the most in his battle against Gorbachev and the rest of the Politburo who imprisoned him until it was no longer practical to silence him in that manner. Did Gorbachev's KGB plan on Sakharov being so grateful for his release that he would mellow out in his old age? That he would be intimidated by his past suffering and his

KAMA'AINA NEWS

Founded 1988

Thornton Massie Tice
Publisher/Editor-in-Chief

Manasseh David Israel
Assistant to the Publisher

William 'Bill' Shaw
Production Manager

Published Twice Monthly
The People's Press

Kama'aina News
P.O. Box 33031
Kahului, HI 96733
(808) 872-6036

Obstreperous Patriot Publishing
© 1990 Kama'aina News

persecutors and keep quiet? Did they misjudge the rage against their tyranny that had grown within him? Or did they manipulate him as far as they desired and then kill him when he no longer fit into their plans?

Of course Sakharov would have been the most likely to have been elected by the people of Russia and of course in denying the people of Russia the man of their choice by putting him in the ground the powers that were are the same only with a different disguise.

This is not to say that there has not been some real change towards freedom in Russia. The man responsible for any form of democracy in the Soviet Union is undeniably Andrae Sakharov.

I stand by my charges against Gorbachev, the American news media, and our own KGB, our "Kinder, Gentler Bush."

Longhi's
A Restaurant created by a man who loves to eat . . .

George Harrison • Ringo Starr • Bill Cosby • Charles Bronson • Jill Clayborne • Governor Ariyoshi • William Buckley • Robin Williams • Dean Smith • Magic Johnson • Kareem Abdul-Jabbar • Julius Irving • Larry Bird • Joe Montana • Al Michaels • Jack Nicklaus • Arnold Palmer • Jackie Stewart • Princess Stephanie of Monaco • Princess Caroline of Monaco • Bjorn Borg • John McEnroe • Jimmy Connors • Swami Sachidinanda • Willie McCovey • Johnny Bench • Jerry West • Bill Russell • George Benson • Bonnie Raitt • Bill Graham • Santana • The Beach Boys • Al DeMiola • Fran Tarkenton • Irwin Jacobs • Wayne Gretzky • Sugar Ray Leonard • Jim Plunkett • Danny DeVito • Michael Douglas • Terry Garr • Bryant Gumbel • Tim McCarver • Jim Palmer • Rollie Massimino • Phyllis Rashad • Chuck Norris • Mick Fleetwood • David Crosby • Stephen Stills • Graham Nash • Stevie Nicks • Alex Travec • Ahmad Rashad • Elton John • Barry Hilton • James Worthy • Barry Gordie • John Tesch • Jim Nabors • William Conrad • Bob Mondavi • Michael Mondavi • Dick Vitale • Dustin Hoffman • Peter Fonda • Joan Rivers • Rich Little • Jacklyn Smith • Bob Eucker • Pepper Rogers • Dick Donner • Andy Sidaris • Ed Marinaro • Jill Ireland • Cotton Fitzsimmons • Kim Bassinger • Lute Olson • Bill Walton • Joni Mitchell • Bob Dylan • Michael Jordan • Rick Barry • Gene Barry • Lorne Greene • Boz Scaggs • Stephen Smith • Bon Jovi • John A. Anderson • Chevy Chase • Burt Lancaster • have all enjoyed breakfast, lunch or dinner at Longhi's. Is it because of who they might see there or the world-famous, delicious food? We think it's both. We hope to see you there.

888 Front St., Lahaina, Maui, Hawaii 96761
808-667-2288

MAYOR PROCLAIMS APRIL 22 EARTH DAY 1990

In a ceremony on the Maui Community College campus, March 6, Mayor Hannibal Tavares proclaimed April 22, 1990, "Earth Day 1990" as a statewide call to action for all of Hawaii's citizens to protect Hawaii's environment. Earth Day 1990 is also a national and international global effort to save the planet.

Nineteen people who serve on the Maui County Earth Day 1990 Steering Committee were on hand to watch Mayor Tavares sign the proclamation atop a replica of the world held by ten year old Anela Javico. Afterwards the mayor remarked to her, "the world is in your hands."

Hawaii Earth Day 1990 activities and events will educate all citizens on the importance of acting in an environmentally sensitive fashion by recycling, conserving energy and water, using efficient transportation and adopting a more ecologically sound lifestyle.

The first Earth Day occurred almost 20 years ago when millions of Americans across the land joined together in a demonstration of concern for the environment creating an informed public whose collective action resulted in the passage of sweeping new laws to protect our air, water and land.

BIG ISLAND GROUPS UNIFIED AGAINST GEOTHERMAL

There has been a great deal of pros and cons in the press recently regarding geothermal development. The following groups have been involved in researching the issues: Citizens for Responsible Energy Development with Aloha 'Aina (CREDA), Pele Defense Fund, Big Island Rainforest Action Group, Kapoho Community Association, Koa'e Community Association, and Greenpeace Hawaii. We provide the information here as a summary of the basic problems presented by geothermal development. We encourage all people to get involved to know the truth and make the right decisions regarding geothermal development on the Big Island.

IS GEOTHERMAL ECONOMICALLY VIALE?

It is irresponsible of the State to suggest we substitute dependency on oil for dependency on geothermal. The geothermal resource is neither reliable nor renewable. Currently, Geysers in California is experiencing a 20% depletion and if the current trend continues, the resource could be depleted 50% by the year 2000. Data suggest that HGP-A experienced a depletion from 3 MW to 2.4 MW over its 8-year lifetime.

The primary means a geothermal plant has for producing revenue is the sale of steam to produce electricity. With no guarantee that the resource will consistently provide steam to pay the 3-4 billion dollar price tag associated with the project, how can such a project be economically viable?

Any agreements the State, HECO or Helco make with geothermal developers make us, as tax and rate payers, a party to this economic disaster. In the end the ratepayer always pays the tab. Even before the construction of the Ormat plant, Helco is requesting a 4.5 million dollar rate increase to purchase power from Ormat.

WILL GEOTHERMAL REALLY REPLACE HAWAII'S OIL DEPENDENCY?

Currently, over 60% of the oil imported into Hawaii is used for transportation, while over 30% is used in the form of "residual" to generate electricity. Residual is the leftover after refining crude oil for transportation fuel. Therefore, the limiting factor in Hawaii's oil usage is transportation, not electricity. Geothermal will not significantly reduce the threat of oil spills, as the large scale scenario (500 MW) in the rainforest would only reduce present oil consumption by 10% or 15% and then not until the next century.

There are no plans to close fossil fuel plants, therefore claims that geothermal will displace the carbon dioxide produced from burning oil are untrue. Furthermore, utility practice is not to rely on one source of power for reliability; thus "standby" generation equal to the amount of the geothermal capacity would be maintained.

Geothermal is for new electric demand, not replacement.

HAS THE STATE EXERCISED ALL OF ITS ENERGY OPTIONS?

Efficient use of energy has great potential for increasing

Fragmentation makes the rainforest extremely vulnerable to invasion by non-native species. Dan Taylor, Chief of Resource Management at Hawaii Volcano National Park said, "The greatest danger to any tropical forest is fragmentation. It can only go so far before the whole system collapses." How can the United States credibly lead the world in rainforest protection and fail to preserve its own?

WAS THE LAND SWAP LEGAL?

The Wao Kele O Puna Natural Area Preserve was part of the ceded public lands trust and was legally dedicated to the use of the Hawaiian people and residents of Hawaii in "perpetuity." In 1985 the DLNR gave 27,000 acres of the Wao Kele O Puna to Campbell Estate in exchange for 25,000 acres at Kahauale'a.

However, 15,000 acres at Kahauale'a are covered with freshly erupted lava, 1,200 acres are wood chipped and 5,600 acres are promised to the Volcano National Park. This leaves our public land trust with only 3,200 acres of forested land.

Campbell Estate needed the land exchange when Pele began to erupt right at the center of their Kahauale'a land. Pu'u O'o and a new lava lake now cover the area originally planned for geothermal wells. The swap was made without the consent of native Hawaiians and its legality is currently being challenged in the courts. We support Pele Defense in their challenge of this illegal land swap.

IS IT SAFE AND RELIABLE?

The history of geothermal development in Hawaii leaves no doubt that this is a very dangerous industry. There have been problems at HGP-A caused by the high acidity of the resource and the resulting corrosion of metal components. There have been repeated breakdowns of the abatement system from solids in the flowstream and metal fatigue, and intensive maintenance has been required due to silica deposits in pipes and equipment. These problems will continue to plague future development.

The viability of reinjection as a technology is untested in Hawaii and remains an unresolved issue.

Residents in the area of HGP-A were made sick by geothermal emissions and complained of sinus problems, Development with a Mt. View, HI 96711.

respiratory ailme headaches, stress eye irritations at These claims ha from medical do of Health (DOH)

Noise levels a development are per day, unabate turbines which w life of the project

Given the hazi plants on an activ unstable areas of venting is extreme

The DOH lac current responsibi lack of expertise information conc were largely ignu monitoring equip given year.

The alternative risks unacceptable

DOES GEO HA

Native Hawaiian fought geothermal defiles Pele, the j Hawaiian belief. P for those who are c of ancestral traditic

Native Hawaiian affect and personal she will retaliate. T will severely impac Pele, her viability a the deity. It will : essential ritual prac Hawaiians in traditi

READ
"THE MONEY REBELLION"

by Andrew
Von Sonn

A cartoon-filled satire about
"You-know-who."

Send $6.00 (Includes postage & handling)

to: Money
Kama'aina News
P.O. Box 33031
Kahului, HI 96733

Hanzo
VARIETY

GROCERIES • FRESH PRO AND HARDWARE ITEMS
LIQUOR • HEALTH FOOD
KEROSENE • FRESH FL

* LARGE SELECTION

Friendly service, relax come and browse — ei

OPEN FORUM

Open Forum Policy:

The Kama'aina News is presenting the "Open Forum" for the use of the general public. We will publish any material submitted to us as long as it falls within the following guidelines: Material should be legible (typed, double spaced preferred) and signed (with the author's address and phone if available). Material that is libellous, vile, racist or degrading will not be published. The use of nom-de-plumes may be allowed upon request. The Kama'aina News reserves the right to edit material for length, grammar and spelling. No material will be returned unless accompanied by a self-addressed, adequately-stamped return envelope. The statements and opinions expressed in the Open Forum do not necessarily reflect those of the Kama'aina News or its staff.

Kama'aina News, P.O. Box 33031, Kahului, HI 96733

Close Calls

I may not agree with what you say, but I'll defend to the death your right to say it.

A TIME FOR WAR AND A TIME FOR PEACE

Geothermal Protesters Duped?

by Abbie Hoffman

To write this letter gives me joy on the one hand and distress on the other. The part that brings me joy is the short part and you will find both parts intertwined herein. The joy is that so many concerned people showed up at the geothermal festival/protest in a spirit reminiscent of the sixties and early seventies.

That spirit is so important and should not be demeaned and it is not my intention to do so here. However there are certain realities that I am driven to bring to your attention. Some will of course accuse me of being a conspiracy-paranoid. Others of you will seriously consider the reality of the deviousness of the other side and the necessary steps that must be taken if we are going to stop the rape of the rainforest on Hawaii. The matter is of course immensely important as a global issue. Each and every person has a vested interest in the survival of the Wao Kele O Puna rainforest on the Island of Hawaii. Many can't see their vested interest because they are blinded by greed or apathy or job security.

Because Hawaii Electric Company has out-and-out lied to the public concerning the viability, practicality, environmental soundness, and economic savings of wind and solar power we cannot trust their word for anything concerning what is good for the public. It is time to move towards PUBLIC UTILITIES. The Hawaii Electric Company (which owns the Maui Electric Company) is a private corporation which operates behind the profit motive. What's good for HEC is not necessarily good for the consumers. It's time to break up the monopoly on power.

The concert in Keaau on Saturday was a pleasant and "controlled" event at which many powerful speakers were censored from speaking or singing. The audience of course was unaware of the censorship that was going on. Several promoters of the event from Maui are calling the whole event a farce as they were used to bring people from Maui to the event who were not allowed to speak or sing their songs of protest.

Plenty of time was given to a Japanese girl to sing about six songs that are soon to be released on a record. The songs had nothing to do with the geothermal issue. They did however take up lots of time and space that could have been used by those who are concerned with the issues who would have given their time and talents to more meaningful consciousness.

There are other examples too numerous to mention and I won't bore you with them. I do want you to know that there was extreme censorship on Saturday at the "festival." Freedom of speech was denied by those who assumed control of the event. I will neither trust them again nor support their endeavors.

To the eyes of the unsuspecting, the event on Saturday was a grand one. There was a pleasant mix of Hawaiians and haoles dressed in bright colors and the spirit was high. It was good to see so many of the different groups come together to support the anti-geothermal action. There is a great need for a further coming together. There have been too many nice folks promoting their own thing which is of course somebody else's own thing. It's good to have a lot of instruments, but it's better when they play in symphony. The food and music were great and there was of course dancing into the night. It was truly a festive occasion.

There was an undercurrent of heavy discontentment among many Hawaiians due to their not getting much time to speak or perform. They felt too much time was given to rock 'n roll and reggae. They said that this event should have focused more on the issue of their religion which is expressed through dance and song. It is after all their religion which is being denied and violated in the rape of Hi'iaka.

The event was well planned and organized with transportation to and from the airport for other islanders and mainlanders. There were camping and crashing places for both druggies and non-druggies. To this writer there is no condemnation in that provision. The majority of Americans don't consider pot smokers to be criminals or to be disassociated from.

(By the way, DEA, I am glad about two things concerning the bombing of your headquarters in Florida. I am glad no one was hurt and I am glad your headquarters was bombed. Furthermore, I applaud those who did bomb. I don't consider the bombing an act of violence since your building was an inanimate object. If employees had been harmed then I would recognize bombing as an act of violence. You just experienced modern day Boston Tea Party.)

(By the way, Hawaii Electric Company, if someone misuses gun powder (which can be legally purchased at sporting goods stores for reloading cartridges) and Sporting Goods (which can be purchased at sporting goods stores, hardware stores or restaurant supply houses), and thus makes plastic explosives, then sticks a large firecracker with a long fuse to it (which can be purchased at hobby shops for remote launchers) to detonate the plastic explosive and uses it to blow up your drilling equipment (with which you are intending to destroy the rainforest) I won't consider that an act of violence either. That will be your Boston Tea Party.

Open Forum continued on next page

Man preys on itself
Sensing the beauty of life
God's own paradox

sha

[What does the FBI say about Earth First!]

"They're short on material assets but long on dedication ... and I don't really look for them to be doing a lot of hurting people... This [Dave Foreman] isn't really the guy we need to pop — I mean in terms of an actual perpetrator. This is the guy we need to pop to send a message. And that's all we're really doing... Uh-oh. We don't need that on tape. Hoo boy."

Take it from FBI agent Michael Fain. He ought to know. For almost a year he posed as an environmental activist, joined in protests, linked hands with Earth Firsters, volunteered at the office — all part of a multimillion dollar covert operation. The public can learn what he really thought — quoted above — because he forgot to turn off his recorder.

Wire-tapping, infiltration, secret tapes, incitement... The FBI is spending millions of taxpayer dollars against low-budget, non-violent, grassroots environmental groups. At the same time, corporate criminals pollute, waste, and destroy without effective restraint or fear of prosecution despite constant flouting of environmental laws.

Citizens must safeguard their right to organize and dissent without fear of harassment by the FBI. These next few years will be critical for the planet. To permit voices of conscience to be silenced is to risk the future itself.

Help us fight this wholesale assault on our most basic civil, constitutional rights. The Arizona Five need your support now in order to defend their — and our — rights to oppose the destruction of our endangered planet.

Send to:
Arizona Five Defense Fund
PO Box 4666
Salem, OR 97302

☐ Send me more information about Earth First!

Name _____

Address _____

City, State _____ Zip _____

T. G. I. F

That's Great
Island Fish

Poki
Fresh Fish
NAGASAKO

(808) 242-407

FISH LIMITED

1246 Lower Maui
Wailuku, HI 9679

Number of U.S. medical schools: 125

Number of U.S. medical schools with a required course in nutrition: 30

Training in nutrition received during 4 years medical school by average U.S. physician: 2.5 hours

NOTE TO ADVERTISERS:

The Kama'aina News reminds you of our New address:
P.O. Box 33031,
Kahului, HI 96733

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

There was organized training for non-violence on Sunday morning before the protest. It is important to exhaust all means of non-violence to achieve our just aims of representative government before we resort to other necessary means to protect our fragile environment for the survival of our species. That means we must do whatever is necessary to save our planet for the sake of our children. It does not mean that we must sit back and wait for the legal maneuvers to be fought out in the courts or legislatures which act at a snail's pace. If we wait that long it will be too late. The powers that be will continue destroying while we wait.

Governor Waihee (who is a lap dog of the Japanese) has betrayed his own and is facilitating the illegal swapping of Hawaiian lands and is doing nothing to stop the drilling and destruction. If anything, it was probably he who led the goon squad to protect the rapers at their evil work.

A friend brought me a couple of fliers to look at. One said STOP GEOTHERMAL ALERT. It is about Rep. Mike Jeffe's resolution calling for a "slow down" of geothermal development. I wonder if he is getting any letters for writing such a proposal. Such a proposal is designed to placate the anti-geothermal development people, not what we need. What we need is a stop work order, a cease and desist order, to get all activity enjoined, an injunction against further drilling or cutting of trees or logging or any activity which promotes the destruction of a single tree in the rainforest. Whichever attorney obtains effective instruments through the courts will win the respect of the people of this great sovereign nation of Hawaii.

The attorneys who wish to serve in this righteous cause should bring suit against the Environmental Protection Agency for non-performance. It could be a Class Action suit by the people of our great land. Now is the time for all men and women to come to the aid of their country.

Those who hold power through servitude to money have decided to deny the right of representative government. They have sold down our right to the initiative, thereby denying the people of our great land the power to go over their heads and make laws which are not dictated by special interest groups.

In a way they have done us a favor. In voting, they have revealed their true colors and now we know who to drive out of office in the upcoming election. On every island the majority of people are in favor of the initiative. And yet the few who claim to represent us vote against us. That's OK. Their days in office are now numbered.

Through the initiative process we can determine law ourselves. We can turn everything around. We can condemn plantation land to be used for affordable housing. We can determine what is affordable. We can determine to have a public utility. We can mandate rent control. We will be able to mandate that our dependence on fruits and vegetables from the mainland be ended in that our fruits and vegetables will be grown on Hawaiian lands. We may find it necessary to condemn more plantation land for that purpose is not done voluntarily. We can repeal state and property taxes and tax the tourism industry for our sovereign national lands. We can mandate to our public servants that they will provide us with a mass transit system and even limit the number of rental cars on our islands (a recent study at MCC found that there are fourteen thousand rental cars on Maui's roads each day).

We will be able to recall politicians who prove not to be public servants. We won't be stuck with crooks for four years. We can mandate laws that prohibit the purchase or possession of Hawaii land by foreigners. We will even be able to mandate that lands formerly sold to foreigners must be sold to resident citizens of the sovereign nation of Hawaii if we so desire. If we so wish, we will also be able to secede from the United States and become THE SOVEREIGN NATION OF HAWAII, truly a nation of the people, by the people and for the people. These things are but the restoring of powers that can be restored to the people of our island nation.

At the end of the two-day event I began to see things from the other side as a chess player must do in order to beat his opponent. If your opponent has an objective he will have a strategy to achieve his objective that is facilitated by deception. It is necessary to move into the opponent's court and to understand there so the opponent does not know he is being outplayed into defeat, but rather thinks that he is winning victory. At the end of the protest (as we were told to cooperate completely and allow the servants of geothermal to have their way), I heard the voice of those who had assumed control of the event and had censored many voices. They proclaimed that we had won a great victory that day. I recognized there the voice of the other side which had infiltrated our camp. Had the drilling stopped? Was there an end to the slashing of the trees?

"I TOLD YOU THE MALATHION SPRAYING WAS GETTING OUT OF HAND..."

I began to consider what I would do if I were the pro-geothermal development soldiers. I would know in advance that there would be a reaction to such a horrendous evil being done to the earth and that I must be ready in advance to placate the opposition in order that I might proceed unhindered. I would send out my own men into the enemy camp to organize the righteously irate and offended citizens. Each move that I would make would be intended to purchase valuable time that I might proceed with my drilling. I would know that if the people were allowed to become violent, national attention would be brought to my evil work and support would be garnered by the other side that would surely overcome me. I would seek to keep the matter as quiet as possible.

I would give the opponents a great festival and tell them what a wonderful work they were doing. I would censor the voices that I could not control and at the end of the protest (which had accomplished nothing that I had not planned and controlled), I would declare from the front of the crowd at the gate, "Today we have won a great victory." I would bring up names like Ghandi and Jesus and calm the people and make them think that something great had been accomplished. I would hope that there would be no one in the crowd to remind the people that Jesus made a whip and drove the money changers from the temple.

If an evil power is rolling across the land and devouring the life in its path and a people that are numbered greatly enough to stop the evil power go out to war against it and shake their fists at it, and scream and shout their displeasure at it, and give it gifts, and sing to it, and yet do not directly act forcefully against it, will the evil go away? Where does the evil come from? How does he get his servants and soldiers? There are those upon the earth who are motivated only by their love of money. That is their root. They have hardened hearts and have stopped their ears so that they cannot hear the cry of the people. They serve the corporate giant who has no heart for the people. He is blinded to the needs of the people and his mind is filled with lust for the things of this world to which the power of wealth provide access. He is clothed in unrighteousness and is a raper of the earth and the people who dwell here. He has big, big pockets which are filled with gain from spoiling the poor. He does not respond to Ghandi or the kindness of Jesus. His heart and his servants' hearts are void of light because they are given over to the love of money which is the root of all evil.

Yes, I heard his soldiers proclaim to us that we had won a great victory. There is a saying that we are all familiar with. "The proof is in the pudding." The drilling goes on. The forest is cut.

Trees are the lungs of the earth and all creation is moaning in travail for the awakening of the sons and daughters of God. Hear it, brothers and sisters? Do you hear the call to war for the people of the earth? We have learned that government is unresponsive to the caring for the environment. All of mankind all over the earth depends on the oxygen that is produced by our Rainforest of Wao Kele O Puna. The violation of this rainforest is an outrage to the safety of our entire planet and all who dwell here.

APPROPRIATE RAGE

Each concerned person must know the enemy will do all it can to infiltrate us and to find out our plans. We must act as individual soldiers with a secret mission. We must also act together in great numbers. Perhaps the next time that two thousand people gather to protest the rape of Hi'iaka there will be two thousand armed with tear gas masks, Molotov cocktails and rocks that Pele has provided. When the world sees that, and they will, many will come here from all over the world to join us in our battle to save the planet. The battle lines have been drawn. I will not spell it out any further for you. Consider that your families and their lives for generations are at stake. That the insanity of environment destruction must be stopped by the most effective and expedient means. Now is the time for appropriate rage.

I was told a story about another project on Maui sometime ago that was turning the forests into wood chips to be shipped to Japan. The people wrote petitions which went unheeded. They gathered and protested and shouted and waved signs. They whined.

Then one night some serious person went to the destruction site and burned all the equipment. That was the end of the selling of the forest to Japan for wood chips. That was another Boston Tea Party.

And so brothers and sisters, I give you caution. It is not a caution that will keep you from acting in concert. I commend you for your spirit that is reminiscent of the sixties and seventies. Those were some of the most powerful times of our generations. We are more mature now and so is the opposition in reading us and planning accordingly. We can throw the opposition off by reaching even further back to another powerful spirit that was exhibited. A spirit in the people that caused them to take on the greatest of all empires. The spirit of 1776 is the spirit that will give life to new Boston Tea Parties against every kind of injustice.

Our brave ancestors who took on the British Empire in their quest for Life, Liberty and Justice for all tried every form of redress that they could, believing that there was a spark of right in their oppressors that would respond to them in a positive manner. They woefully found out that oppressors have no intention of liberating the oppressed and so in a spirit of independence they set out to claim that which was rightfully theirs. They turned in the ballot box for the cartridge box.

Perhaps things are not that far along here yet. Perhaps they are. There are certain inalienable rights. Included in life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are clean air and water, without which there will be none of the others. Now is the time to stand up, now is the time to act, before it's too late! The FORCE is with us!

NOTICE OF ADDRESS CHANGE!
Correspondents be informed that we are receiving mail for the Kama'aina News at: P.O. Box 33031, Kahului, HI 96733

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

WAO KELE O PUNA TO JAIL, A WALK IN THE LAST LOWLAND TROPICAL RAINFOREST IN THE UNITED STATES, HAWAII, 1990

We came to worship the sacred land by defending her. To some the rainforest is a multi-dimensional money machine which makes more environmental terrorism possible. For others, those one hundred and forty-two who got arrested, and those arrested before them, and those of us ready to get arrested again, and again, and again, the Rainforest, Wao Kele O Puna, is as precious as our Mother. It is Mother to many other species found nowhere else on this planet. She is being raped, about to be slaughtered. The world is beginning to take notice of the atrocities being committed against the Natural Order of the Earth, and loving people gather to demand peace and rational action.

For the people everywhere who value a healthy life, clean water to drink, fresh air to breathe, a rich environment to pass on to their children and grandchildren, we got arrested for you, too. Even if you were the officer who handcuffed the little girl in front of me who was crying as she was being loaded into the van. Even for Judge Chillingsworth who used to be the attorney for Leilani Estates, which is the real reason he never should have been allowed to preside over the arraignment of the Puna 142.

The scene Thursday morning, March 29th, at the little court house in Keeau began with lovely weather and intimidation.

The signs on the courthouse wall greeting the multi-colored people of Hawai'i and the mainland stated the maximum sentences we'd been charged with: a thousand dollar fine and time in jail or a thousand dollar fine without jail time. No mention of minimum fines, no "innocent until proven guilty." Most people's charges had been reduced to Simple Trespass, eliminating the possibility of getting legal defense unless they had the money to pay for it themselves.

But most people who get arrested in defense of the environment don't. Native ladies and gentlemen who just want to raise their kids and worship their Gods and Goddesses, fish in peace, and love the land, they were there. Young, old, business people, farmers, secretaries, the new age, the new wave, the old and young nature people, mothers, children — ALL PEOPLE WERE REPRESENTED! Not just the "hippie pot growers and outsiders" that cost the 'honest tax payer' $55,000 as has been widely, irresponsibly reported.

The media blank being drawn over the March 25 protest in Wao Kele O Puna Rainforest — Where 2000 people marched to defend the Earth, the U.S. Constitution, and the future quality of life for all — obscured even the L.A. Times, UPI and AP. Heavy controlling forces and apathy have been working overtime until now.

As the judge refused to allow the Prosecuting Attorney for the State to tell 'on the record' of the court why our charges were reduced from Criminal Trespass to Simple Trespass, we protested in court to the point that we were ushered out the back door by a big guy in a blue suit. Some didn't even get a chance to plead anything other than "not guilty" plea they'd been automatically given. They prefaced the meeting with each group of protesters witnesses with a recitation of the maximum charges, not mentioning the minimums, presumably trying to intimidate people into pleading "no contest," which would help to unburden the court system and save money. You can see how you'd feel about not having an attorney defend you, just so the judge can speed things along for the State and save money for proponents of geothermal development.

[Big Island Photos; Pages 4, 6 & 7 by T. M. Tice and P. von Hartmann]

Sure, a little bit of tax money gets spent in a training exercise, at time-and-a-half, for the cops, but think about the bucks they'll lose if we don't get convicted! If the Puna aren't found guilty, that means it's okay to walk on land that was ceded to the Hawaiian People, forever. It will mean the land swap which illegally took away the rainforest allowed bulldozers to violate Constitutional and moral laws while they ripped the lives out of endemic indigenous species, it will mean that will stop.

And then we can get on with developing a decentralized energy future for Hawai'i and the world, using solar, wind, conservation technology, recycling and common sense.

Open Forum continued on next page —

Homemade BAGELS Baked Fresh Daily wholesale/retail

- French Bread
- Sandwiches
- Deli/Bakery
- Eat-in or Take-out

201 Dairy Road
Kahului, Maui, HI 96732
(808) 871-4825

AIRLINE TICKETS

CUT

RATE

Ph: (808) 871-6200

We Cash All Kinds
Checks Cashed • Food Stamp

333 Dairy, Rd., Suite 110
Kahului, Maui, HI 96732

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
1/2 MILE FROM AIRPORT

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

If the Puna 142 are convicted, it will mean two steps backward for our chances for survival. Not only will geothermal development destroy drinkable water and breathable air in Hawai'i and contribute to the global havoc, it will prove to be another blind alley designed to keep us from taking control of our own energy needs.

Watch for the next walk in the Wao Kele O Puna. "The Earth Is Our Mother, We Will Take Care of Her," we chanted and will chant until she is defended. And Peace will be used to defeat the dark forces of humanity. The same ones who exploit Nature in so many other ways. The same as those who announce wars to bolster their failed economies based on wasteful consumption. And finally, those who don't, as individuals, do everything they possibly can to heal the planet. Because the ultimate power does lie in the pocketbook of every one of us.

That is the power which is only surpassed by the power of the pen, the camera, the brush — the Truth, communicated.

That is why the State Prosecutor took down the signs announcing the maximum fines and penalties rather than put up the sign I suggested, "Innocent Until Proven Guilty," at the arraignment in Keeau. Unless that is a concept you are willing to let go of, as we have let go so easily of so many of our freedoms lately, then this is the time to fight for your freedom, which many people have, do and will die to protect.

If you are in favor of geothermal development, talk with someone at any one of the Island activist groups who are involved. If you are against geothermal and favor alternative, non-polluting, inexpensive, truly renewable solutions to Hawai'i's effort to kick its petroleum habit, then let other people all over the world know how you feel. Support the people of Hawai'i in the fight to turn these environmental crimes against the world into the turning point for the entire environmental movement.

The day we return to the Sacred Rainforest to pray, to show our love for the Earth, to embrace our freedom without being taken to jail for it, that will be the day the world will have at least a chance of surviving. If that day comes soon enough, we may yet be able to enjoy clean, healthy lives in a world shared with all creatures, of which more are lost with each minute we delay.

Paul von Hartmann

Burton D.
Gould

Andrew V.
Von Sonn

Attorneys at Law

2153 Main Street
Wailuku, Maui, Hawaii 96793

(808) 242-8580

Civil and Criminal Litigation
Accidents/Personal Injury
Insurance Claims
Malpractice
Land Law/Real Estate
Contract Law International Law

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

UPDATE FROM PELE DEFENSE FUND

Dear Friends of Pele Defense Fund:

Aloha,

Here is a synopsis of our work in various fronts:

1) IN THE COURTS:

• Land Exchange Challenge (Ulaleo v. Paty appeal): This case, challenging the exchange of ceded lands at Wao O Kele and O Puna (to Campbell Estate from the State of Hawaii Dept. of Land and Natural Resources), is scheduled to be heard in San Francisco Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals on March 12, 1990. Additional plaintiffs have recently joined this case, native Hawaiians with strong claims to use of the area for traditional gathering and medicinal purposes.

• DOH CASE (Aluli et al v. Lewin, Dept. of Health, and True Geothermal Co.): This case involves an appeal of the decision of the Dept. of Health (DOH) to grant an Authority to Construct (ATC0 permit) to the True Geothermal Co. for construction of 12 geothermal wells in the Wao Kele O Puna Natural Area Reserve. While the initial trial was being heard last month (Jan. 29 - Feb. 8), a second ATC permit was quietly approved by the DOH on Feb. 6, to Ormat Energy System's Puna Geothermal Venture. As requested by PDF lawyer Anthony Ranken at a Feb. 27 hearing in Hilo Third Circuit Court, Judge Kimura agreed to reopen the case to allow for presentation of additional evidence. This case primarily addresses issues of air, water, and noise pollution, and hazardous waste disposal which have not been sufficiently addressed nor regulated by the Dept. of Health, resulting in acts and omissions which threaten environmental quality and are contrary to the interests of the public.

• Trespass Case: The "Wao Kele 19", some arrested as they were denied access to the forest for religious purposes and others arrested as a result of conscientious civil disobedience, will appear in court tomorrow in Keauu for sentencing.

• Ormat appeal (Pele Defense Fund v. Puna Geothermal Venture): This appeal of the geothermal resource permit issued to Ormat/Puna Geothermal Venture by the Hawaii County Planning Commission is still in progress.

• PUC Intervention: In late January 1990, Pele Defense Fund filed a petition for intervention in the matter of the Public Utilities Commission to institute a proceeding to require energy utilities in Hawaii to implement Integrated Resource Planning.

• Our challenge to the county's "Rule 12" process is presently being filed. Rule 12, which replaced the contested case hearing process (only for geothermal issues), has proven to be totally inadequate in addressing residents' concerns, and denies citizens' constitutional rights to due process.

• An appeal of the Dept. of Health's decision to grant Ormat's ATC permit will likely be filed soon.

• Legal action may also be pursued, if necessary, to address concerns of area residents reporting observed violations of True's preliminary injunction against certain activities, notably clearing, venting, and night time operations.

2) EDUCATIONAL EFFORTS:

• We are expecting good attendance and coverage of a statewide series of forums this week which will focus on the economic impacts of geothermal development in Hawaii. Robert McKusick and Richard Topielec of Northwest Economic Associates, Inc., will present their recently-completed and updated "Economic Analysis of the Kilauea Geothermal Development and Inter-Island Cable Project." Also on hand will be Robert Mowris, an energy efficiency expert who has recently completed a report on Energy Efficiency and Least Cost Planning in Hawaii; and longtime PDF attorney Tom Luebben. We hope that this factual information will provide proof to the governor, legislators, local county councils, union leaders, ratepayers, and taxpayers, of the economic folly of pursuing geothermal development in Hawaii.

• "Pele's Appeal" was shown on the local Honolulu public television station on March 1, and is generating calls for additional information and offers of help. The videotape continues to be a very effective way of bringing people to a good understanding of our native viewpoint.

3) MEDIA/DIRECT ACTION:

• The second National Day of Outrage against Geothermal Co. on Feb. 20, 1990, saw demonstration Caspar, Wyoming (6 people arrested), San Francisco, Angeles, Washington D.C. (70 people marched at the V House), Irvine, Ca., and Bloomington, Indiana, as we here in Hawaii (2 arrested at Wao Ke le O Puna). Today published an article in their Statesline section day ("Heat's on in Hawaii for Volcano Tappers").

• We have kept media coverage consistent on the level, and national coverage continues to increase. The York Times article of 1/26/90 was a positive one at generating some response. We have had inquiries from the major network television stations for information preparation for possible in-depth coverage. Often contacts are due to direct contacts of news people by friends. Mahalo.

Daily we hear of additional coverage. The latest issue of the Ume Reader, for instance, carries an overview coverage by other publications ("Saving Native Hawaiian People and Forests in the 50th State fare no better than those in Brazil or Malaysia"). We appreciate receiving copies of any coverage you might come across, as we photos of local demonstrations.

• The "Reclaim the Rainforest" action initiated by four month old Big Island Rainforest Action Group (BIRAG0), and co-sponsored by Pele Defense Fund scheduled for March 24 and 25. Lots of response has been generated from activists nationwide. Rainforest Action Network has initiated a "Break for the Rainforest March 25" campaign encouraging activists to come to the Island to join in protesting the destruction of the rainforest. Pele Defense Fund has begun to mobilize statewide native Hawaiian population to participate.

Mahalo for all your continued support and network. The continued escalation in pressure on government officials and developers from all of your efforts is having effect. The taxpayers are refusing to succumb to potential economic disaster, and many more are beginning to recognize the validity of our native claims. Keep in to

Palikapu Dedman
Pele Defense Fund
P.O. Box 404
Volcano, Hawaii 96

Aloha. Malama pono.....a hui hou.
With lifelong commitment,

No More Little Beach...
Get naked and tan all over — in private...
No more tan lines...
Get a grand tan without the sand...

—A more controlled tan without sunburn—

Tan & Tone

Body wraps and toning for men & women

As seen on The Phil Donohue Show
Phil lost 1 1/2" off his waist in the first wrap as people watched on "live" TV!

Complimented by tanning
All under one roof

SPECIAL

FIRST 20 CUSTOMERS
$199⁹⁵ for one year

SLENDERIZERS.

877-SLIM

250 Alamaha St. N6A, Kahului, HI 96732

TROPICAL GARDENERS

of Maui

☞ Experience the tropics daily with fresh arrangements in your home or office
- deliveries available.

☞ Catering to weddings and receptions on our lush 5-acre Garden

☞ Gift shop and deli

☞ Certified to ship anywhere in the Mainland U.S.A.

Open Daily 9am - 5 pm

Located on Iao Valley Road

244-3085

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

Tax Time 1990

by A.E. Skipton

Tax time, April 15th 1990,
Government waste, fraud and corruption is easy to see.

Tax protesters, tax collectors and the I.R.S.
It's all over the spending of our dollars and cents.

1 of 5 taxpayers admit that they cheat.
Beating the I.R.S. is quite a feat.

I.R.S. seizures, raids and intimidation.
Time to create the re-birth of our nation.

The U.S. Constitution, the law of the land.
Tax protesters can sure use your helping hand.

The U.S. Constitution says gold and silver for our dollars.
Rise up people, let the government hear you holler.

The U.S. Constitution says Congress only to coin our money.
Not the Federal Reserve Bank, who gets the milk and honey.

Tax time, tax time, April 15th 1990.
A time for protest, Government waste, fraud and corruption, it can't be.

Lie Down With Dogs

y Tom McCarthy
Hawaiian Fan & Lighting Co., Inc.

Forty years ago, my father gave me a piece of advice; he said, "Son, if you lie down with dogs, you'll get up with fleas." Unfortunately, we often forget our parents' wisdom and go on to learn in our own, often painful, way.

Last September my company "traded" a fabulous state-of-the-art Casablanca ceiling fan/light for a full page ad in the Maui Bulletin. You know, the self-proclaimed "no lies...just good news" rag. Well, the ad came out with less than an acceptable quality and, to compound the matter, the camera ready" velox that the Bulletin supplied the Maui News was such that the Maui News ads were of poor quality well. When I pointed this out to the Bulletin they were not interested in any kind of reparation. At this point I decided to forget the matter and chalk it up to experience.

Several months went by until we noticed our art work, actually a Casablanca fan, appearing in our competitor's advertisement about gall, audacity...what chutzpah! When I pointed this out to the president of the Bulletin, she treated it as no big deal, that it wouldn't happen again...but while I have you on the line, "did you tell the husband of our editor that you would never do business with the Bulletin again?" To which I answered, "That's correct, I wouldn't. Good-bye," and I hung up. I used no loud talk, no profanity, although I must say it would have been understandable had I!

My candor prompted an assault by the Bulletin attacking my good name. For five straight weeks the Bulletin chose to print a defamatory ad suggesting that people were having electrical and/or service problems with our company. Further, the Bulletin continued to not only use our fan illustrations but also pirated the Casablanca Fan Company's registered trademark.

On the humorous side, I thought it was particularly noteworthy that for three issues of the Bulletin, run over a four week period, 1/4-page ads complete with our illustrations and Casablanca's registered trademark appeared going to sell...one fan (the one we traded to them) for 1/2 of what it should sell for. Finally a nice man, who we have done business with for years, bought it. So much for the effectiveness of advertising in the Bulletin! Someone who should have had to pay for that ad space would have blown $500 or six hundred bucks.

To remember, we're never too old to heed our parents' advice. And in this case, Dad was right: "You do get up with fleas when you lie down with dogs."

SUDA'S Pizza To Go

HAPA

Canadian Bacon, Cheese, Italian Sausage, Round Onion, Green Pepper, Mushroom, Black Olive, Pineapple

COUNTRY BOY

Portuguese Sausage, Pepperoni, Round Onion, Mushroom, Black Olive, Green Pepper-Cheese,

LOCAL BOY

Cheese, Char Siu, Round Onion, Tomato Black Olive

61 S. Kihei Road

Call Today Limited Free Delivery

879-7133

Lahaina Sign Co.

"The Sign People"

One Stop For All Phases of Sign & Design

1013-C Limahana Place, Lahaina, HI 96761

(808) 667-5766

COMPUTER

Coming soon...

COLOR LASER COPIES

Now...

PHOTO COPIES 7¢

335 Hooohana St. #F • Kahului

871-6058

GRAPHICS

IMAGES

TYPESETTING

Local Service Phone Numbers

Aloha House
579-9584

American Cancer Society
244-5553

American Red Cross
244-0051

Big Brothers/Big Sisters
244-3757

Hawaii Heart Association
244-7185

Hospice Maui
244-5555

Maui Association for Retarded Citizens
242-5781

Maui Center for Independent Living
242-4966

Maui Childbirth Education Association
244-0879

Maui Family Support Services
244-7937

Maui Hui Malama
242-6816

Maui Kokua Services, Inc.
244-7405

Maui Special Learning Center
877-5914

Maui Youth & Family Services
579-8414

Mental health Association
242-6461

Society for Crippled Children & Adults
244-7467

Teen Challenge Wailuku 242-9544
Lahaina 661-3914

Women helping Women/Shelter
579-9581

Sexual Assault Crisis Center
242-4335

Sexual Assault Line
242-4357

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

Re: Senator Inouye's most peculiar vote swing.

Dear Mr. Tice:

When election time comes around it is important to remember that our good Senator Inouye, who in the past has consistently voted for reductions in the Star Wars programs, changed his position and on Thursday, Sept. 28, 1989, voted for an amendment by Senator Sam Nunn to the Defense Appropriations Bill adding $600 million of our taxes to Star Wars. The amendment won, 53-47.

It is interesting to note that the senator has not — in his usual manner — had the courtesy to reply to my letter asking him about his change in voting. Unusual, too, is that his local office never called me back when once again I asked for an explanation; and the co-ordinator for the International Physicians For The Prevention of Nuclear War (IPPNW) for the Hawai'i chapter never received a reply to his letter either.

Of course with all the talk about a rocket launch pad at South Point on the Big Island...

In Peace,

Helga Kliche-Costello

Drs. Natalie & John Tyler,

Psychotherapists specializing in Couple, Family, Group & Individual Therapy, Adult Children of Alcoholic & Dysfunctional Families Workshops, using Transactional Analysis Gestalt Redecision Therapy, Family Systems, A Course in Miracles and the Twelve Step Program, joyfully announce with ALOHA our move from the Mainland and the opening of our Psychotherapy Practice in Maui, with offices in Kahului and Kihei.

EAST WEST CENTER for PSYCHOTHERAPY and PAIRS TRAINING (Practical Application of Intimate Relationship Skills).

For information call 879-2766, 879-0097, or 244-4141.

TRAINING SESSION ANNOUNCED

To help our local and neighbor island non-profits compete more effectively for funding, the County of Maui and Lokahi Pacific will co-host a Grantsmanship Center Training Program at the Wailuku Community Center the week of April 23rd.

The Grantsmanship Center is the country's oldest and largest educational institute devoted exclusively to the needs of non-profit organizations. During the past 10 years, more than 30,000 people across the country have taken part in its programs. According to a recent Grantsmanship Center evaluation, past participants reported raising over $129 million in funds after attending Grantsmanship Center trainings. Participants range from the smallest non-profit agencies to the largest public institutions and represent all areas of human service activity.

During an intensive week-long workshop, trainees will acquire basic planning and proposal writing skills as well as the ins and outs of government, foundations and corporate grants.

Interested persons may contact Ms. Connie Anderson of the County Housing Division at 243-7351 or Ms. Jo-Ann Ridao of Lokahi Pacific at 242-5761 for more information, or call The Grantsmanship Center at 1-800-421-9512 to register. Tuition is $545.00.

Dear Friends:

I oppose the geothermal development proposed for Hawaii. Please help make my view known. Sky Fischer Haiku

BAD TV

Professional Audio & Video Production

Reasonable rates for: WEDDINGS • MUSIC SPECIAL EVENTS • COMMERCIAL SPOTS

Franklin Russell
Producer, Music and Sound

871-3597

POLITICS & PROTEIN

by Susanne Sydney

I discovered this taste sensation at a charming ristorante I Caminetto many years ago when I was living in Roma: Fettucini Verde con Piselli (green fettucini with peas) and have prepared it a dozen different ways. The simplest is: boil water for noodles, place colander or strainer on pot and empty can of peas, liquid and all, into strainer. Remove when water comes to a boil, let drain in sink.

In serving bowl, grate 1/2 cup provolone or mozzarella; 1/2 cup jack or colby or mozzarella; 1/2 cup parmesan or romano or both; and cut up 1/2 stick butter or margarine. Stir the hot drained peas into the butter and cheese, likewise the noodles. Whack 'em. Also splendid with a can of tuna tossed in, an extra sprinkle of romano...mmm gone broke da mout.

Calling all Men and Women! Come To The Aid of Your Country...it's 1990!...an election year. We need a fresh new batch of candidates — a few GREAT men or/women, young or old, bright enough to know if we allow the incumbents to continue their quest Maui will become a rich man's ghetto entirely, all workers commuting from Molokai and Lanai. BRAVE enough to want to be one of the ones to change things, to make a difference. GENEROUS enough to give up his/her own pursuits to work for the public good on a daily basis, for at least two years (possibly four if the vote passes). DEDICATED to making Maui a far finer place to call home, and the worship of Mother Nature and the wondrous gifts she has bestowed on us.

Ten people run this Island County (Maui, Molokai, Lanai and Molokini) - The mayor and nine councilpersons, a majority of five on the council make the laws (game plan) and the mayor carries it out (administration-host) (halfback). I support Marvin Miura for mayor if he runs...there is some question of it right now because of the health of his father...but I hope a few thousand of his supporters will give him a call at his office, Office of Environmental Quality Control, 548-6915, and tell him, "Hell no, we won't go with any of the other candidates!" Come on Marvin, we need you....and five more like him on the council!

Any volunteers? Call 872-6036 and leave a message for me.

Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's

KIHEI'S LARGEST SELECTION OF FRESH FISH at $18.95

Erik's

SEAFOOD BROILER

Early Bird Specials (5 - 6 pm)
Stuffed Prawns
8 oz. Strip Steak
Chef's Catch of the Day

Air conditioned for your comfort. Elevator available

Menu features:
Large selection of fresh fish
Lobster, Crab Legs
Steak, Lamb and Duck

Erik's Deluxe Pupus:
Sashimi, Bar-b-que shrimp
Erik's famous steamers
Escargot Bourguignonne

Reservations Recommended
Dinner seating: 5 - 10 pm
879-8400
2463 So. Kihei Road
日本語のメニューもあります。 Kamaole Shopping Center

Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's Erik's

PARADISE FRUIT

ORGANIC FRUITS AND VEGIES
FRESHNESS GUARANTEED

SERVING MAUI'S BEST

SANDWICHES
ALADS
MOOTHIES

FROZEN YOGURT
RUIT CUPS

...AND LOTS MORE!

879-1723 OPEN 24 HOURS

Across from Kalama Park in Kihei

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

Editor:

lowadays as you drive, especially in the Central Valley on the Western side of the island, you can see what's of many little animals run over on the highway. geese, whom as cute as they are nobody seems to like in the islands. Domestic cats and dogs, even a stray or two, according to the newspaper, get hit by cars now and then and lie there ugly and dead. I've even the Hawaiian owl, the pueo, run over. Especially on stretch of highway crossing the Central Valley to the ort. Many of them.

his seems to me a metaphor. A sign. cars ago a dog could lie down in the middle of Kihei l and not have to move for quite a while. The same on at Street in Lahaina. They better not try that now.

development. Development they call it. And struction. Construction they call it. And with those two and "C" words the little animals have no place to run, neither do we. You see, years ago Maui used to be rural character. That's what attracted so many of us here. t's why the little animals could thrive. And as you know gs have changed and are changing even more.

h, I already know that some of my critics will point out it isn't only Maui where things get run over on the way. But bear with me, I'm talking about a process, see. rocess. How things go from one stage to another. This happened before in other places.

hen the white man crossed the great continent of North erica, shooting the buffalo from aboard passing trains for t, the little animals began to die in great numbers. ore that they had been hunted mainly for food by the ls. A different ethic, a different value had set in.

ut how does a dead pueo, run over on Kiihelani hway, or somebody's domestic cat or dog crashed into where on Maui compare to that? Basically, what I'm ig to say is nature has not designed them for that. The horse and the automobile with glaring headlights and paratively fantastic speed overtake them, and they die. ving us only their mangled bodies to metaphor, why?

ven the mongoose, swift enough to beat a cobra in le, loses to the wheels of an automobile doing sixty. n. You've seen them. Some of you even try to run them . Tell the truth.

So what? Well, I don't want to come across as some "bleeding heart liberal" who bemoans the environment at a meeting then goes out for a steak dinner. Again, basically, I'm saying you've gotta know how to read the signs. Just like you gotta know on the highway when the light goes from green to red.

These little animals are getting run over because the basic conditions of their agreement with life have changed. Moreover, through no fault of their own. Development and Construction. Highways and Cars are not things that nature has designed them for. They had no way of expecting those things and have no way to cope.

But some will see in this Darwin's "Survival of the Fittest." Perhaps this is an evolutionary stage where only the strong survive? Are Cars, Boats and Planes part of the plan? The Grand Design? Perhaps so. I know there's some guy out there who thinks that Computers are. He believes that humans will deposit all of their acquired intelligence into indestructible computer form and blast off for distant planets leaving the hulk of Earth behind. Well, look at it this way: at least he has some hope.

Meanwhile, back on Earth, and back on Maui, the Kihei Road vendors are being pushed around. The people who go to the nude beach at Makena are being pushed around. The merchants in Makawao are being pushed around. And none of these groups seems to get the connection of one to the other.

Down on Kihei Road they came with boulders awhile back, and overnight put the huge rocks where the peddlers used to set up rickety tables trying to make a living. When calls were made to the County, who was behind this? Nobody. How did it happen? Nobody knows. At St. Theresa's Church a thriving swap meet almost every weekend in the parking lot. Overnight the edict came. Pau, that's it, get out. Not in a couple of weeks, but tomorrow. Now. Out, it's over. Like the Gestapo. Like Hitler's Germany. Like Mussolini. No warning. Blitzkrieg.

And in Makawao, the same thing. But this time with the established merchants there. What goes around comes around. Get out. Close down your businesses immediately. You don't have proper parking. Your old buildings are not up to code. They've been there for years. We've ignored them for years. But now, get out. Calls to the County again. And who's behind it? Some guy who has never run a business of his own in all his life. Some guy who has a secure eighty thousand dollar a year job, or whatever, with the County.

Some guy who has no understanding of the risk of paying rent, deposit, remodeling costs, inventory costs, and the risky thrill of opening the doors to a business. Some guy who would never stand on Kihei Road in a parking lot in the baking hot sun peddling wares, and who would especially never, never take the risk of scorn of standing by the side of the road peddling wares to passersby. Some guy who has a secure job and a pension to look forward to paid for by taxes.

And the nude beach people. It's OK for Americans to lie naked and dead on battlefields and beaches all across the Pacific, near the 38th parallel in Korea and rot in the stinking jungles of Vietnam, but it's not OK to take your clothes off and live for the freedom others have been willing to die for. This attitude seems common. It is much applauded to die for freedom, but to live for it seems sometimes much unwelcome. Ask any small businessman, especially in Hawaii. Oh, the State and County officials get upset at language like that, charging them with disrespect for business. I repeat. Ask any small businessman in Hawaii. Go ask the guys in Makawao how they feel now.

The businesses that get respect are huge. Multinational corporations are preferable. You know why. The bigger the better. Screw those little guys.

Does anybody out there understand why mothers with babies are willing to stand on South Kihei Road, despite the scorn of government officials, some selling their handmade art, trying to cope with the enormous costs of living spurred on by Construction, Development and huge corporate interests? Does anybody understand that Little Beach Makena is in the middle of an area designated for massive Development? And that the hotels planned for that area need that beach, just like they needed old Makena Road? And that those interests are willing to use State and County agencies to do their dirty work and are also willing to use imagemaking to make us look down on the peddlers on Kihei Road and at the nude beach as though they are freaks and Un-American somehow?

But with each freedom that gets crushed all of us are lessened. Whether you get pushed on to the reservation, or instead benefit from the fact that others are pushed onto it, in a sense you live on a reservation too. The black people in South Africa get pushed onto "homelands" but the white people are equally, albeit luxuriously, imprisoned too. See what I mean?

Name withheld by request.

LAHAINA CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

LAHAINA INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL CAFETERIA

SUNDAY MORNING 9:00 TO 10:30 AM
SUNDAY EVENING 6:00 PM TO 7:30 PM

The Spirit and the bride say come,
Let him that hears say come. Let him that is athirst come and whosoever will, let him freely take the
water of life. —Revelation 22/17

For A World of Good Food! International House of Pancakes

At our house you can get Breakfast, Lunch and Dinner any time you want. And all at the lowest prices.

For your convenience we are open
8am to Midnight 8am - 2am
Sunday through Thursday Friday and Saturday
Maui Mall • 70 E. Kaahumanu Ave. • 871-4000
Azeka Place • 1280 Kihei Rd. • 879-3445

International House of Pancakes Restaurant

Rainbow Discount Liquor

RAINBOW MALL

KAMA'AINA STORE

PARTY DISCOUNT FREE QUOTES

LARGE SELECTION:
BEER, WINE, SPIRITS

879-8887

Pearl bearing orchid surrounded by soft air ferns
Rapturous love scent
shali

NOTE TO ADVERTISERS:
The Kama'aina News
reminds you of our New address:
P.O. Box 33031,
Kahului, HI 96733

COMPUTER REPAIR

IBM® - APPLE® & Compatibles

Great Prices on IBM-type Hardware
No Help — No Charge

EMERGENCY SERVICE AVAILABLE

MAUI
Computer Doctor
572-4888
We Come To You

The Real American Manifesto

UNCOMMON SENSE

Editor's Note:

Bill Murray, National Director for THE REAL AMERICAN MOVEMENT in Valley Forge, PA., has given the KAMA'AINA NEWS permission to print UNCOMMON SENSE in serial form for your reading enjoyment. All he wanted in return was a subscription to KAMA'AINA NEWS. We have accommodated each other's publications so that you might be made more aware of the perils ahead in these perilous times. It is our common hope that the book, UNCOMMON SENSE, will shake you and wake you.

Publisher's Note:

We are pleased to continue serial publication of "Uncommon Sense."

Continued

Chapter 6

The Father of Our Country

*To trust the soul's invincible surmise
Was all his science and his only art.*

—George Santayana

George still yearned for the military life, so he viewed Braddock's request as a unique opportunity, perhaps to secure for himself a royal commission, instead of the second class colonial commission. So he agreed to accompany Braddock, but only as a civilian aide to the General, and George even agreed to serve without pay, thus avoiding any possible confrontations.

The march to Fort Duquesne began in June of 1755. Braddock also took along about 300 Virginia colonial militiamen, bringing his troop strength up to 1,300 men.

George tried hard to explain to General Braddock what he had learned at Fort Necessity, that the French and Indians fought guerilla style warfare, hiding and shooting concealed behind trees, and using the tactics of ambush. They would not fight politely standing up in columned rows, a la European style. Because of these facts, George suggested that Braddock should think of changing his battle style.

All of George's warnings to Braddock fell on deaf ears. Braddock had graduated from the finest English military academies, and he prided himself on his technical military education. He only had contempt for rag-tag colonials. What did they know? His self-conceit and bureaucratic arrogance amazed and insulted young George Washington.

Braddock marched his Redcoats, supply wagons, and artillery pieces out in the open, in one long column, as if they were going on a picnic. And the color red of their uniforms made a very visible target against a tree green background. Fearless George couldn't believe Braddock's recklessness, and continued to counsel caution in the form of several separate columns, spread safely apart. Braddock mockingly laughed at George's concern.

Braddock foolishly expected the French to politely wait for him snuggled safely in their fort. On July 9, when Braddock and his forces were only 8 miles away from Fort Duquesne, a few hundred French and Indians ambushed them. Simultaneously, shots rang out in the front, in the rear, from the left, and from the right. And Braddock's men could not even see the enemy. Within minutes, 800 of the 1300 lay dead or wounded. The French and Indian musket balls were hitting their targets at close range.

Being unfamiliar with this type of warfare, and still not being able to see the enemy, the Redcoats broke up in a wild panic. What a bloody massacre! Braddock himself was mortally wounded and died three days later, but not before he apologized to George Washington for not heeding his advice and not before bequeathing his finest horse to so wise an aide.

In the heat of his third battle, what did the fearless spirit do? George tried valiantly to rally the remaining Redcoat regulars, but none would listen to a colonial, especially a colonial who was technically a civilian, but all of the colonial militiamen would. George ordered the colonials to position themselves to fight from behind trees. From there, the colonials drove back the charging Indians several times. George called up the artillery and actually fired several cannon blasts himself. George rode horseback up and down the entire column to rally all of the survivors to fight. George's gallant efforts saved the remaining live Redcoat soldiers from a total massacre.

When the French and Indians realized that they could not completely finish the kill, they retired back to Fort Duquesne.

With George in command, the colonials protected the rear of the retreating Redcoats all the way back to Williamsburg.

Describing the disaster, George later wrote: "We were attacked by about 300 French and Indians. Our numbers consisted of about 1300 well armed men, chiefly regulars, who were immediately struck with such a deadly panic that nothing but confusion and disobedience of orders prevailed amongst them . . . the English soldiers broke and ran as sheep before the hounds . . . The General (Braddock) was wounded behind in the shoulder and into the breast, of which he died three days after."

George was not impressed with the discipline and fighting ability of the Redcoats at Fort Necessity, and he was even less impressed with these same traits of the Redcoats under Braddock's command. He filed these thoughts of military disrespect for the Redcoats in his memory bank.

Still describing the Braddock fiasco, George matter-of-factly wrote regarding himself: "I luckily escaped without a wound, though I had four bullets through my coat and two horses shot under me." You see. It was luck. He says so himself. What else could it be? Who is this guy anyway? Four bullets through his coat, two horses blown apart under him, and he doesn't even get a scratch. Somebody up there must like him.

Years later, George found out who was shooting at him. You read that right. What do you think are the odds of an expert sharpshooter specifically assigned to kill you in a battle because of your recognized reputation, years later, travelling for weeks through the wilderness to find you again to tell you that he was the sniper shooting at you during the Braddock massacre? One in a zillion? Well, it happened. And guess what? He was an Indian.

George and his crew were surveying farmland in Western Virginia along the Kanawha River when an old Indian walked into his camp. The old Indian told everyone that before he died he had to speak to the man, as he said, "with the charmed life." Every man knew to whom the Indian was referring. Why did this old Indian feel that before he died that it was his mission to see George Washington? What compulsion drove him? What was burning inside this Indian that George Washington just had to hear?

This Indian told George that he was the sniper specifically ordered to shoot him during that battle. This Indian explained that the French gave him the assignment because of his reputation for never missing a target. This Indian went on to explain how he took careful aim on his first shot, how he squeezed it off, and how he couldn't understand why George wasn't knocked off his horse. This Indian couldn't believe that he had missed. To his amazement, George kept on fighting.

This Indian explained how he reloaded, took careful aim again, and how he squeezed off a second shot. George kept fighting. This Indian scratched his head.

This Indian explained how he reloaded again, took careful aim again, and how he squeezed off a third shot. George kept on fighting. This Indian was getting spooked.

This Indian explained how he reloaded again, took super careful aim, and how he squeezed off a fourth shot. And George kept fighting.

This Indian explained that he deliberately stopped firing at George after four bullets failed. Indians are superstitious folks, ain't they?

This Indian had no idea that all of his bullets did in fact hit George, but passed through his coat. Just a coincidence, of course.

This Indian explained to George that he had come to tell him that Washington would never die in war. This Indian knew that the force was with George, and of course, this Indian's prophesy would be correct. This Indian delivered his prophetic message to George before the French and Indian War ended.

Throughout the colonies and overseas in England George had become a living military legend after rescued the Redcoat survivors of Braddock's massacre. His reputation for fearlessness and valor in the face of the enemy was unchallenged. He was a hero, a few weeks after Braddock's defeat, he retired his Mt. Vernon home. He was only 23 years old and in a letter to his brother, this living military legend reviewed his military career like this: "I was employed to go a journey in the winter (when I believe few none would have undertaken it) and what did I get by it? My expenses borne! I then was appointed with trifling pay to conduct a handful of men to the Ohio. What did I get by this? Why, after putting myself a considerable expense by equipping and providing necessaries for the campaign, I went out, was soundly beaten . . . came in, and had my commission taken from me, or in other words, my command reduced under pretense of an order from home . . . I have been on the losing order ever since I entered the service." And regarding the Braddock defeat, he referred to the "dastardly behavior of the Regular troops" and the "cowardly Regulars . . . Shamefully beaten by a handful of men."

George rested at Mt. Vernon for only two weeks when Dinwiddie persuaded him to accept back colonial militia commission again at the rank of colonel. George's new military mission was to defend Virginia's western frontiers against French and Indian attacks. This he did for three full years, fighting through many more bloody battles without ever being wounded, but finally he resigned and retired again in 1758 at the still young age of 26. The French and Indian War would last for five more years, but George Washington would choose not to be an active participant in that war ever again.

When George retired at age 26, he was thoroughly convinced of two things: the English Army could be beaten, and if a colonial war against England ever materialized, that he was the person who would know how to beat them.

In the next 17 years, George would marry the widow Martha with two young children, run for office and serve in the Virginia legislature and win re-election every time, and manage his farming business—but would participate in no more soldiering for the English Empire.

Why would a dedicated soldier like George decide to stop fighting for the English Empire when the French and Indian War was not over and would last for five more years? It doesn't make sense. Good question. Wasn't he a war lover? Why would he quit? Seem totally out of character for a man who thinks the sound of bullets whistling past his head is music to his ears, doesn't it?

The answer to why George decided to stop fighting for the English Empire will become more obvious if you understand the fundamentals of the great American game of baseball: three strikes and you're out. George graciously gave the English 33 strikes and in his mind, they always struck out. They always made the exact same errors over and over again. They always dropped the ball. They would never accept any coaching or advice. They were uneducable. You can't make chicken salad out of chicken feathers. There were a lot of streets named after them: one way. Their names were legends in their own minds. Their doors were always closed. Their game is called: breaking your will to resist—you can't beat us, you have to join us. Take it or leave it.

GEORGE DECIDED TO LEAVE IT.

Have you ever dealt with people like that? Autocratic. Authoritarian. Dictatorial. Snobby. Egotistical. Manipulative. On a power trip. Thinking their hot dogs are ice cream. Getting off on controlling people. Keeping them on a short leash. Well I'll be damned . . . bullies! You understand? Perfect rectal orifices.

If you've ever experienced people like that, say them operating in several different situations, how long did it take you to realize that they were professional screw job artists? Only masochists hang around these types for very long, patiently waiting to be the next victim.

George was not a masochist. Are you?

Correspondents be informed that we are receiving mail for the Kama'aina News at: P.O. Box 33031, Kahului, HI 96733

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

Whom It May:

GORBYS GOOFS! Big winner of points in my book of erases standing: — Soviet Tycoon, in loss of grip, ds into reverse, lurching toward Stalin. The daring zer, Mikhail Gorbachev, demonstrates with direct insult while too little power is a drag, too much power upts. You blew it, Gorbys! Pull back. Get out! Go away! uania is not a cheese, and you are not a rat!

First wrong move: asking for all the guns. Second wrong e: moving in with troops. Third wrong move: kicking foreign VIPs. This pattern clearly adds up to ONE T: WE win, YOU lose. Do as we say!

ower trip, Mr. newly appointed/elected President. was on your side on this. Lithuania is so tiny, and the and the original rip-off so seemingly distant, and your t well taken: "We have invested so much! Pay us back!" t's not the true spirit of giving, Gorbys. Sounds like a owful, manipulative parent. I thought, "Ah, if United es treats Soviet Union same, Russia is BANKRUPT!" ero has a tarnished side. We see the Great Gorb is her power-grabbing Politician. Where does this ocrysis arise? How initial integrity became invisible? wrong turns. One, YOU ARE OUT OF YOUR MIND. is not an insult, but a technical observation of this mon, sad, human experience. It results from not loving self enough to stay Centered. It results from Being Too To Others. It is difficult to detect because 1) it is so mon, and 2) it is accepted and ignored as normal. I call on it, herenow.

I YOUR MIND you would have contained your own ghts and expressed them correctly: Keep my guns (not yours), keep my troops (not have mine), keep foreign out of the land (I stay home). You are living KWARDS. To L.I.V.E. backwards is E.V.I.L.

was on your side except for one issue, crucial: Self mination is the foundation of each form, and every idual, of all life. ANYONE who violates the self- mination of another is a criminal. And creates karma. t you do in the world is given back to you because you enjoy what you do, why else do it? So if you step on le, sooner or later people will step on you. If not in this in the next. Lithuania seems to feel stepped upon. ry agrees. They seemed to say, "Take away your foot! can still be friends!" BUT YOU WENT OUT OF R MIND! AND NOT A SINGLE ONE OF YOUR ISORS CALLED YOUR ATTENTION TO THIS NDER. Don't you have one awakened consciousness here on your staff? Certainly there are awakened t Citizens! Is it truly possible that in this late date of i politics that a Super Killer, such as the soviet Union, enough weapons to effectively destroy the planet, has ed a leadership where the man of the decade is out of ind, AND NOT ONE SINGLE ADVISOR made a note Too scary for consideration, I must say!

u don't NEED Lithuania!

huania needs you. Now if the Great Gorbachev is as Great as we thought, he can recover his balance ay, "Yes! Thank you for calling it to my attention. I temporarily out of my mind. It is understandable. In my on it is a miracle that I function at all without regular ation. Having regained my sanity, I take away MY MY troops, and stop playing Stalin's games. I stand that Lithuania feels long abused BECAUSE WERE NOT RESPECTED, and not allowed to K THEIR TRUTH. I embrace the fact that we grow tyranny, not back into it." AND WITHDRAW. That l be the courageous act of a Statesman.

u stay, you gonna lose many, many, many, many n points, your credit rating in the West is gonna drop and down, and down. You will be considered dable. Just like you now consider Lithuania. Please be alert. Come back into your own mind. Stop projecting to your neighbors. Be big, not small: LEAVE JANIA!

nk you for your attention,
uni M.A. Anand Dharm ku

COMMERCIAL SPACE WANTED 750 TO 1500
SQUARE FEET, ACCESSIBLE TO PATRONS, GOOD
IF, TOILET; AND CHEAP, CHEAP. WANTED
FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY USED BOOK
RE. CALL 242-6062

Dear Editor:

I would like to share with you and your readership my feelings about geothermal energy, its proponents and opponents, and some recommended solutions.

Just last week, I attended a Maui County Council meeting where the issue of geothermal was the subject. I have a lot to say about it.

Geothermal energy use has been such a controversial issue here of late. An earlier geothermal well that was not as efficient or refined as today's technology seemingly created health problems for local area residents on the Big Island. No promises from anyone can deter these folks from being against additional geothermal development, no matter what improvements or safeguards have come to be. That's understandable.

After listening to the speakers from the state and geothermal experts and other "experts," I am inclined to say NO to geothermal. The cost is prohibitive AND there ARE solutions that are less expensive, 100% safe and reliable. It was a challenge to sit quietly and watch the county council inadequately handle the discussion process. I would have liked the opportunity to question these experts. Lack of specific knowledge on the subject of energy by Council members present resulted in far too few appropriate questions, though I don't fault them in any way. Their intentions to do their best seemed very clear, especially from vocal Mr. Wayne Nishiki and Ms. Linda Crockett Lingle.

I found the testimony of Department of Health Director Jack Lewin to be very well delivered and clear as to the safety regulations for any proposed geothermal sites without endorsing the same. Energy consultant Robert Mowris gave some sound energy conservation advice as well. It was nice to hear someone talking of positive solutions and alternatives, instead of just simply protesting.

Through a series of events I have become a principal owner of highly technical manufacturing equipment in a solar thermal and photovoltaic project that uses a space age technology originally designed for America's space program to generate electricity in a cost effective manner. Lack of adequate capital sources has slowed the process of bringing the product to market. In the early eighties, the system's designer had been asked by then U.S. Secretary of Energy Donald Hodel to proceed to prove his theories. At governmental expense, he proceeded from a crude drawing to a fully operational test model. And with the availability of state of the art computer testing equipment, he proved his point, at the cost of upwards of $800,000. In 1983, Hodel even came out to see the prototype unit and applaud its results. The name of the final product is V-8 LASER, so named because of its conceptual design. Eight linear fresnel lenses concentrate daylight, thereby forming 8 Vs of light.

I personally have attempted to bring this information to the public by offering significant information to a number of our local magazines and newspapers, yet they have failed to mention it to anyone, they want more information about it. The press, in my opinion, has NOT done their public duty in assisting the public in being aware of important solutions, so that the public might encourage the Department of Business and Economic Development to "aSSist" this solution in becoming a safe, usable alternative. Roger Ulveling,

Director and spokesman of the same, was completely unaware of any other technologies that could deliver what geothermal claims it can. This simply is NOT TRUE and a prime example of how bureaucracy can allow useful information to be lost or NOT ACTED UPON. I myself sent information on this technology and asked for support on this project in mid-1987 via former Governor Ariyoshi's office, then routed to Mr. Yoshihara, Energy Program Administrator at the Department of Planning and Economic Development.

Letters and phone discussions with the economic development people and the government officials has resulted in NOTHING to date, though recently, with the help of Maui Economic Development Board's Mike Boughton and Mike Davis of the Office of Governor Waihee (both of whom I independently contacted), I have initiated conversations with a very interested and receptive DBED Administrator Bill Cook, who will be discussing this potential energy alternative with Maurice Kaya, present energy director. Without exception, I am convinced that every State representative I have spoken to is truly concerned with the best interests of all, although I don't always agree with their views.

We all see around us how far-sighted foreign interests are buying up properties and businesses while we Americans so often are short-sighted and "asleep at the wheel!" Will this happen again?

When there are alternatives to geothermal — AND THERE ARE — why destroy the precious resources of a LIVING NATURAL RAINFOREST? We hold in our hands an exciting opportunity for America and the World to manifest an affordable, realistic and ecologically sound solution to one of the greatest threats to our way of life. Now we can all truly control our energy destinies. That is why we might affectionately say, "POWER TO THE PEOPLE!"

Jason Schwartz Dream Makers

TRANS-MAUI
RENT-A-CAR

AIR-CONDITIONED CARS!

One of Maui's largest locally owned and managed rental companies.

FREE LOCAL PICKUP & DELIVERY

TRANS-MAUI RENT-A-CAR
879-8872
22 Alehele, Kihei • KAMAAINA RATES AVAILABLE

OPEN FORUM

Continued from previous page.

Dear Mr. Tice:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your newspaper's stance on the geothermal project. Enclosed you will find a copy of a letter (see below —Ed.) I have taken the time to write. It seems that your paper is the only one that realizes that the time is so late for many issues which will affect the quality of life on Maui. I would hope that the businesses of Maui support you with their advertising dollars. After all, they do have a vested interest in the preservation of Maui and the other islands also. Keep the pressure on and Mahalo!

Sincerely,
Fred Maki
Allendale, NJ

Governor John Waihe'e
State Capitol
Honolulu, HI 96813

Dear Governor Waihe'e:

Hawaii has always been close to my soul for several reasons. Among them is that a sea captain relative once married Queen Liliuokalani. My family tree therefore has the Pilgrims and the Hawaiians, an unlikely but quite american combination.

I recently had the opportunity to visit Hawaii for the second time and was appalled to learn of the Big Island Geothermal Project. It is unfortunate that the best location for geothermal is in Wao Kele O Puna. The promise of geothermal is indeed economically seductive. This promise and its attendant use of untried technology does not justify the destruction of the last lowland tropical rainforest in the United States. Nothing justifies it!

It appears to me that Hawaii is at a crossroad in its attitude toward the environment and the reasons people visit the islands. The reason tourism is so big is that the islands are perceived as beautiful and indicative of so many other volcanic islands in the Pacific. It is my observation that the very reason tourists now flock to Hawaii is being destroyed by overdevelopment. If you do not retain the reason why people visit they will visit elsewhere.

Maui's highways for instance are insanely crowded. I can get this in New Jersey. Poor Maui. Once a jewel now gone. Yet nobody seems to care. Siltation from agricultural development now threatens the marine life in Honolua Bay, forests continue to be cut down, Molokini looks like a parking lot instead of a marine sanctuary. Why should I visit a place where the dollar takes precedence over anything else?

You have a unique opportunity to take a leadership role in a set of priorities that Hawaiians can both prosper from and be proud of. Stop a project gone out of control. Save your tourism industry. I have decided that I will not be visiting Hawaii again and I will spend my tourist dollars elsewhere. Please stop the geothermal project.

Sincerely,
Fred Maki

On Solar Energy

by H. Kliche-Costello

The director of the Hawai'i State Department of Business and Economic Development, Roger Ulveling, wrote to me that "we have been aggressively pursuing our own indigenous energy resources for ten years."

I would like to ask where the results of the "aggressive pursuit" have materialized? In fact they are hardly visible anywhere: solar water heater panels on roof tops are a rare sight in Hawai'i compared to southern Portugal, where — during a visit last year — I observed solar panels on almost every house, including three-story apartment buildings (I couldn't see the roof tops of higher buildings) and compared to Israel, which has had a law in effect for over 15 years making solar panels mandatory on every newly built house! My friend in Kailua, Oahu, on the windward side(!) tells me since installing her solar water heater she has savings of 50% on her electric bill! When in fact only one island — Oahu — has a public transportation system (insufficient though it may be); on all the other islands we have to depend on cars. Neither are there the safe bicycle paths desired by so many of us in a place ideal for biking! When in fact the ailing Hawai'ian sugar cane industry has subsidized with our federal tax moneys for years which could be alive and well supplying us with the much polluting gasohol to relieve our dependence on imported

Each island could have a solar-run monorail transportation system which could also give the many people and children, now depending on someone to needed rides, freedom to move about safely. The panels recharge on the top of the trains as they move and, since they are removable, will be given a superch at the terminals in the sunniest area of each island.

We don't have to bear electric rate increases to fund uncertain source of geothermal energy which will depleted anyhow in 10 to 20 years as scientists testified; we don't have to be exposed to 8 hours of road noise of free-venting (like a 747 jet taking off) for each the 200 plus geothermal wells planned, don't have breathe the stink of rotten eggs and face respiratory ailments, don't have to have our precious unique rainforest destroyed and our beautiful land ruined by fire-hazard high-voltage transmission towers!

Environmental substance abuse and vandalism increasingly becoming unacceptable.

Why make foolish choices when we can make ones?!

Good housekeeping on our spaceship Earth — the planet we've got — just makes $$$ and sense!

KAHULUI SWAP MEET

ODDS 'N ENDS SPORTING GOODS
LOCAL CRAFTS GOODIES
CLOTHES FOOD FURNITURE
HARDWARE INTERESTING STUFF
BOOKS HOBBIES
SOUVENIRS BARGAINS ANTIQUES

SATURDAYS
8:00 AM - NOON
OLD KAHULUI FAIRGROUNDS

KIHEI CHICKEN & RIBS NEW REAL MEXICAN

BURRITO PLATE $5.00
ENCHILADA PLATE $7.00
(Chicken or Cheese)
Rice, Salad, Fresh Salsa

PLATE LUNCH 11 AM - 3 PM ONLY 1/4 Ribs or Chicken, Rice, Salad $5.50	COMBO PLATE ANY TIME 1/4 Chicken, Ribs, Rice, Salad $7.00
--	---

DINNER PLATE
3 - 9 PM
1/4 Chicken, 1/2 lb. Ribs, Beans, Rice,
Choice of Salad
$8.25

1/2 Chicken, Rice, Salad $6.75	1/2 lb. Ribs, Rice, Salad $6.45
---	--

Kukui Mall

across from the only Laundry in Kihei

Open 7 Days 11 AM to 9 PM

CALL NOW 879-2655

Take Out Orders Available...Free Deliveries (Minimum $15.00)

FREE

EXAMINATION & CONSULTATION

CHIROPRACTIC

Turns ON the POWER to get you well and keep you well!

Dr. Lisa Anderson Dr. Dennis Braga
Specialists in the finest chiropractic adjustment available for removal of nerve pressure.

Call 871-1170 for FREE examination and consultation

Monday - Friday 9 AM - 7 PM
Saturday 9 AM - 12 Noon
24-HOUR EMERGENCY SERVICE

CHIROPRACTIC OFFICES
74 LONO AVE., KAHULUI

Would Legalization Increase Drug Use?

Lawrence W. Reed

If drugs were legalized, says drug czar William Bennett, use "would skyrocket." George Will echoes him. They offer now evidence for this claim, of course. Judging from America's last experience with Prohibition, they are probably wrong. If we ended the War on Drugs, drug use might even decline.

In his 1963 book How Dry We Were: Prohibition revisited, Henry Lee gives us a fascinating and instructive account of what happened when alcohol was prohibited from 1919 to 1933.

When Prohibition was enacted, everyone predicted the dawn of a New Moral Era. Dr. Billy Sunday said: "The sins will soon be only a memory. We will turn our prisons into factories and our jails into storehouses and corncribs. Men will walk upright now, women will smile and the children will laugh. Hell will be forever for rent."

And George Will agrees: "The fact is that Prohibition worked. Alcohol consumption during the twenties declined." The reality is otherwise.

Lee's facts and figures show, as we might expect, that prohibiting alcohol simply drove its production and consumption "underground" and even had the perverse effect of increasing both. Many people drank more than ever, or for the very first time, just because the stuff was legal. "Men were drinking defiantly," writes Lee, "with a sense of high purpose, a kind of dedicated drinking that you don't see much of today."

One place where they drank was the "speakeasy." In New York, for instance, 500 licensed saloons in the 1920s before prohibition gave way to twice as many speakeasies when booze was outlawed. On Eagle Street in New York, there were 18 speakeasies; before Prohibition there were only three saloons.

Public drunkenness was illegal both before and during Prohibition, but in Detroit, drunkenness arrests increased sharply from 6,590 in 1920 to 28,804 in 1928. Drinking increased among members of Congress during Prohibition!

During daylight, "Prohibition did cut down the amount of drinking," says Lee. "Probably because it was illegal, people preferred to do their imbibing at night, more than making up for their daytime abstinence."

Another indication of all the booze sloshing around in the 1920s was "the most spectacular event" of the decade—the 470% increase in corn sugar production. The stills were operating at full tilt; neither the revenue men nor Elliot Ness's "Untouchables" put much of a dent in their growth. In 1929, one state alone confiscated more stills than the nationwide total in 1913, while the grand total of all state and federal seizures was a dozen times higher.

America's total national "drunk tab" during Prohibition was in the neighborhood of $2.9 billion (in 1929 dollars), putting the bootleg liquor business "right up in the category of steel, autos, and gasoline." Millions of first-time drinkers were brought into the underground.

Lee is backed up by the most respected analyst in the field, economist Clark Warburton, whose data in his The Economic Results of Prohibition (1932) come from law enforcement officials, consumers, and producers. He shows that alcohol use increased dramatically during prohibition: liquor, from .3 gallons per capita to 1.86 (520%); wine from .44 to .87 gallons per capita (97%); and beer from 1.26 to 6.9 gallons per capita (447%). During Prohibition, America went on a drinking binge, and, says Warburton, the data for spirits may be underestimated.

Prohibition also made the liquor much more potent (as with drugs today) and alcoholism much more common. After 11 years of Prohibition, wrote British author G.K. Chesterton, "Alcoholism has never threatened disaster as it is threatening America today. It isn't normal that girls at 16 should go to dances and drink raw alcohol." Alcohol-induced deaths appeared and increased. Of the 480 gallons of liquor confiscated in one Prohibition year, 98% contained poisons.

Bennett and Will are wrong. Prohibition didn't work, and meanwhile taxpayers were picking up the bill for the massive enforcement effort. And though decent people might have used alcohol, they didn't manufacture or distribute the illegal stuff, leaving those lines of work to some of the sleaziest and most violent crooks in our history. Crime rates soared in the "Roaring 20s," most of it prohibition related.

My guess is that if we outlawed soda pop, we could produce a similar effect. Bootleg cola-from-a-still would flow like water; people would pay a high price for illegal root beer; criminal gangs would supply it and the feds would spend billions fighting the soda-pop cartel.

Making drugs illegal only increases their lure, and with the profits available in the drug trade, there is more incentive to advertise and get others hooked.

Evidence strongly suggests that drug abuse, like alcohol abuse, is a demand problem. Attacking it from the supply side is inherently futile and even counterproductive.

Lower prices, which legalization would bring, always increases the quantity demanded. But probably just about everybody who wants to use drugs is using them now. People can get them easily, even in federal prisons. There simply is no pent-up demand. And legalization would end the "forbidden-fruit phenomenon," in which some young people are attracted to drugs precisely because they are illegal.

Bush and Bennett want people to stop abusing drugs. I couldn't agree more. What they haven't explained, however, is just exactly why this latest stepped-up attempt at Prohibition will work any better than the last time we tried it.

LIQUOR SHACK

1143 Makawao Ave.

BEER, WINE and DELI

Chilled Champagnes • Coldest Beer in Town and a Variety of Assorted Wines

Newest Additions: Hamburgers, Chili Dogs,
Cheese Dogs, Egg Rolls, Potato Wedges,
Hot Broasted Chicken and More.

572-7775

OPEN DAILY 9:00 AM TO 11:00 PM

Kihei's Best Early (5 to 6 PM) Bird SPECIAL!

Polynesian
Chicken only $9⁹⁵

Prime Rib $11⁹⁵ Fresh Fish $11⁹⁵

All Specials Include Our Salad Bar

• Steaks

• Seafood

• Prime Rib

• Salad Bar

Maui's finest dining at affordable prices

Kihei Prime Rib
& Seafood House

2511 S. Kihei Rd.

Call 879-1954

Reservations Preferred

Progress has a way of changing things...

Little things, like... open space, charm, ambience and the basic graciousness and warmth known as the Aloha Spirit...

Maui's condominium, small hotel, bed & breakfast country inn, client-pleasing INN-credible... place.

THE COCONUT
INN

181 Hui Rd. F, Napili, HI 96767
669-5712

WALT KELLY'S
POGO

I DON'T SEE ANYTHING.

I COULD SEE ALL THE WAY TO FORT PIX IF YOU'D MOVE YOUR EYEBONE.

Dave Coverly

FUNNIES

BRENDA STARR®

By Ramona Fradon
and
Mary Schmich

The COUSTEAU WATCH

THE SPIRIT OF THE CROCODILE

By Jean-Michel Cousteau

© 1990, The Cousteau Society, Dist. by Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Along the Sepik River of Papua New Guinea, no spirit is mightier than the crocodile. To the people there, the great reptile — born of the water — was the primeval creator of Earth itself, and maker of the sky and all human beings.

In the village of Korogo, when a young man is ready to pass from childhood to manhood, he undergoes a dramatic skin-cutting ceremony. Most of his body is covered in wounds that will resemble, on healing, the scales of a crocodile.

When foreigners first saw men whose bodies were covered in scars, village elders told them these men had been swallowed as youths by crocodiles and reborn as "crocodile men."

During a recent visit to the village, our team was granted permission to witness a scarification ceremony. We were warned that there were moments so sacred they were not to be filmed or recorded in any way. To protect against our probing eyes, a fence of palm and banana leaves 30 feet high was erected around the ritual area. Villagers danced and sang throughout the night, and the ritual culminated at dawn with the crocodile ceremony.

On the day of our visit, three young men were to be initiated. On the afternoon prior to the ceremony, they rested with relatives to prepare mentally for the pain they would soon undergo.

The dancing began about 4 pm. Fifteen men formed a sinuous line representing a huge crocodile and circled around the sacred temple, called a haus tambaran. Waving grass pompons, they danced five times around the temple, then stopped to rest. Then five more circuits and rest, in a ritual that lasted all night. During their brief breaks, some men smoked or chewed betel nuts.

Despite the solemnity of the occasion, the dancer acting as the crocodile's tail is the Sepik equivalent of a circus clown. His elaborate gestures and comic antics made the women scream with laughter and the children hide.

The village droned with noise throughout the night. Drums pounded endlessly, dancers gyrated and mesquite fires poured smoke into the sky. Women chattered, babies cried, and people drifted here and there, silhouetted by the red light of the flames.

At 5 am, light began to bathe the village in gray. We were led to a spot where three young initiates, heads now shaved, stood surrounded by male relatives and friends. When the time came for the last circuit by the exhausted dancers, each of the initiates and male family members joined the crocodile's tail.

Reaching the haus tambaran, the line divided — dancers through the main door, initiates through a lesser entrance. Once inside, the initiates had to leap over a fire, then run through a gauntlet of men who wielded ceremonial sticks. As flutes and drums began their music, the naked youths were declared ready.

Leaving the temple and entering the ritual area, the first initiate sat atop an overturned canoe. He chewed on a stick said to be an analgesic that acts as a pain killer. An elder, using a razor blade, began the cutting. (Sharpened bamboo sticks were used before razor blades were available.)

For an hour and a half, the man's chest, back, arms and legs were cut in the zigzag crocodile pattern, every incision drawing blood and pain. The initiate had been assigned a protector, an elder who held the young man's body as he flinched. With each cut, the protector comforted his charge. Thus the ritual became a strange mixture of bloodletting and compassion.

When the cutting was completed, the exhausted youth's body was covered with wounds that would eventually scar. Tree oil was rubbed on his skin to begin the healing process.

After all the initiates had been cut, they were carried back into the haus tambaran to rest and recover their strength. In coming days they would learn the ancient traditions, stories and secrets of the village. In this way, they become the guardians of Korogo culture.

To outside eyes, the ritual was dominated by pain. And yet its purpose was not to inflict suffering, but to generate strength and provide continuity.

By passing reverence for the power of the crocodile from one generation to the next, the village retained its cohesiveness, a sense of its place in a universe bigger than it could comprehend. And nature — in the form of the wily crocodile — provided its unity.

A man is comforted by a friend during the skin cutting ceremony of the crocodile men in Papua New Guinea.
© 1988, The Cousteau Society. Dist. by Los Angeles Times Syndicate

HULA PAKAHI SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

The second annual Hula Pakahi and Lei Festival will be held at the Maui Inter-Continental Wailea on April 28. This statewide festival will feature demonstration in both kahiko and auwana hula.

The festival is open to men and women 18 years old and over sponsored by hula halau from each of the Hawaiian islands. A total of 22 dancers will be allowed to participate. Dancing will begin at 5:15 p.m.

Judges for the event are Auntie Emma Sharpe and Hokulani Padilla from Maui, George Naope from the Big Island, John Kaimika'au from Oahu, and Will Pulawa and alternate judge Kuulei Punua from Kauai.

The Lei Festival, now in its 11th year, will feature Maui artists. It will be held between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Tickets for the Hula Pakahi are $6 in advance and $8 at the gate, available from the hotel.

For applications and entry forms contact Linda Pearlman at 879-1922, ext. 7127.

Maui Traveler

Discount
Airline Tickets
879-0059

New Location
Upstairs
Dolphin Shopping Plaza
Kihei

RECYCLED APPLIANCES

ALL GUARANTEED

VISA/MasterCard Credit Cards Accepted

We Buy Non-Working Dryers & GE

Washers

Phone 579-9566

Lunsford Dole Phillips

Attorney at Law

Specializing in Criminal
and
Civil Litigation

1-533-1734

WHY ADVERTISE HERE?

BECAUSE... THE KAMA'AINA NEWS:

- ✱ REACHES OVER 60,000 READERS,
BOTH VISITOR AND RESIDENT EVERY MONTH *
- ✱ CARES ABOUT MAUI AND MAUI'S RESIDENTS
AND PROVIDES A FORUM FOR THEIR CONCERNS
- ✱ DARES TO COVER THE POLITICAL AND ECOLOGICAL ISSUES THAT OTHERS IGNORE
- ✱ AND BECAUSE PEOPLE REALLY READ
THE KAMA'AINA NEWS

THINK GLOBALLY
— ACT LOCALLY USE THE NEWS!

Kama'aina News
P.O. Box 33031
Honolulu, HI 96733

*Based on a 2:1 ratio @ 15,000 copies twice a month distributed island-wide. (See list of distributors on Page 31.)

POETRY CORNER

SAILOR'S BIRTH

©William R. Adams

In quest of revelry's birthful exclamation
Aspiring child sets sail...
On metamorphosing wind rehearsed
With gestation's long deferred gale.

Perceived asleep in the swell
Of long lent perch,
The perfect pearl...
Redeemer of a patron's blessed yoke
Expressed as fleshly commemoration
Of Love's pride bespoken.

There in due season — of high tides surge
Mothers agonized question...plaintively asked;
Only to be answered with the emphasis
Of the final crescendos piercing note cast,
By such calamitous riot's purge.

Laid without...from belly's restrung
With the cumbersome girth
In deep anchor weigh;
Life...asserted in the prescribed manner
Framed at forward sway.

MR. A. BAX

© Chris G. Koutrobis

I can't APOLOGIZE for my REAL emotions
I AM A PURIST
To believe in this philosophy is hardly ?able and I can't type
The writing talent which I have been dealing with is called automatic writing
You WILL understand Me better after reading some of My pieces
The Emotional TRAUMA from LOSING MY FAMILY is the key that triggers my writing
Hurt...Embarrassment....Humiliation....Degradation and MOST OF ALL THE PAIN OF A THOUSAND CRACKED SOULS
TORMENTS ME AND Drains My Every Thinking
Molecule
You WILL FEEL PAIN AND LOVE IN ALL MY WRITING
Realism and Purism control my daily motion
I can't LIE
I can't Steal
I can't FAKE EMOTION
PLEASE STOP THIS SOCIOLOGICAL HANGING FOR YOURSELF
I AM REAL
I AM PERCEPTIVE
I HAVE PASSION
I AM MAN
This Persecution (Prosecution) Is A Mental Abortion (Aberration)
OF SOCIETY'S SPINELESS CORD EXISTENCE

Respectively Presented Though Grammatically Incorrect

WHERE ARE YOU?

©Susan Douglas

Lover of All Times,
I feel your presence with me now.
We have not yet met in the flesh, though I have caught glimpses of your hair, your muscles, your eyes, through others.

My lover, my young lover.
How I love the feel of your sandy brown hair.
How I love how the wind blows through your spirit.

I love you so.
I love you as I love God Itself.
I weep for the time lost when we could be making love.
I mourn with each piece of food
I place in my mouth, knowing the food I really crave is yours.

I taste you. I smell you.
I am lost in delight of you, Dream Lover.
I awake each morning with you,
as fresh as if we had spent the night together.
I live with you at night and look for you by day.

Where are you, my precious?
My lips and mouth moisten with the sweetness of our love.
My actions do not complete without you.
My antennae are out in all directions ready to receive you.
I wonder what I'm doing wrong to prevent you from coming.
I also trust God's knowing just when the right time is.

I cry to God to speed up the process.
I die inside waiting. I am withering.
I am ripe.
Pick me now, before this lifetime is gone.

Moments long thunder
Enlightening horizons
A blind date with God

shali

Lelehuna Kiss
Uncovering stroll thru love's sigh
Changing stones karma

shali

MARSH MADNESS

©William Shaw

For Lilinoe...

I.

In the height of a dream
Truth becomes sleep
Sleep deserted world weary eyes
Haunt the marsh mists
There is clear mystery for anyone
Who feels he can see

Remote and desultory choices
Abound in the mist
Marsh madness reigns
In a realm of shifting grays

Will you ride into the marsh mad mist?

II.

A comet can blaze through the sky
One small very bright diamond moving
And who could conceive a ghost?

But a ghost quite demur and grayly handsome
With mist on her raiment like diamonds
Has designs on entering your house

What good are comets now?

III.

Half-hopes may be half grasped by one
Who never quite understands
But anyone knows when he
Grabs a ghost it is terrible
Swallows are difficult
But necessary to follow
If you tryst with a swallow
Avoid the marsh mists
Birds and fogs are not partners
And no one swallows a ghost

IV.

When gold is love and love is gold
Is there time to love both?
The sign on the road that leads To the marsh reads this:
"You will find no things."

In the height of a dream
Truth becomes sleep
Sleep on if you can.

Wm Shaw

Earth Day

Compiled and written by SHOWSHAWME, the planetary networking holistic information switchboard operator, nutritional consultant, researcher and lecturer. Transformational Research, 227 Oxford St., Dept. R2, Hartford, CT 06105; (203) 232-2961.

Arpenter's Design and Construction, Inc.: P.O. Box 490, Lake George, CO 80827; (719) 685-1998. Sells plans and kits to build Double Pyramid Greenhouses like the ones currently being used by Cell Tech., Inc., to grow luscious edible baby greens and sprouts. Full service environmental contracting. Also sells U.S. Soil brand rock dust nationally.

Diet for a New America by John Robbins. Exposes the horrifying conditions of animal factory farming, the poisoning of our waterways and non-nutritional and pesticide ridden state of our foodstuffs. Robbins has singled out the meat, poultry, dairy, egg and fish industries as being unconcerned and contemptuous of the public's health in their pursuit of huge profits regardless of how many lives they destroy in the process. "A reading must for all caring Americans," Harvey & Marilyn Diamond, Authors of the bestseller "Fit for Life." Available at bookstores or at the address below. For more printed info. on these issues contact: EARTHSAVE Foundation, P.O. Box 949, Felton, CA 95018.

Hamaker-Weaver Publishers: P.O. Box 1961, Burlingame, CA 94010; (415) 347-9693. Distributes the book, "The Survival of Civilization," by John D. Hamaker and Donald A. Weaver. Excellent coverage of the scientific explanation of the coming Ice Age and remineralization solutions, the population problem, and increased carbon dioxide problem. $12.00 postpaid, quantity discounts available. Newsletter available, write for details.

Gold Mine: 1947 30th St., San Diego, CA 92102; (619) 234-9711. Sells powdered rock dust nationally. Small orders, approx. 50 lb. bags, trailer truck or railroad car shipments are available at reasonable cost. The application of it produces incredible crop yields that have excellent flavor and nutritional value. For an excellent detailed description of what the use of rock dust can do to rebalance Mother Earth please watch the video tape "Stopping the Coming Ice Age" and read "The End..." (see below).

World Research Foundation: 15300 Ventura Blvd., Suite 405, Sherman Oaks, CA 91403; (818) 907-5483. An international (non-profit) health and environmental network. WRF accesses information from worldwide scientific and medical advisors. WRF is connected to over 500 computer databases encompassing over 5000 medical journals in over 100 countries. Their library contains thousands of books, periodicals, and research manuscripts on both traditional and alternative holistic medicine. Computer searches and library access available to anyone. Video tapes of health related conferences available. Send for free packet.

Society for Extended Ethic: 1139 Woodside Trail, Troy, MI 48098; (313) 828-4179. Publishes small easy-to-read, low cost pamphlets for mass distribution that sum up major vital issues on climate crisis, animal rights and problems with animal-based agriculture. In the process of developing a network to facilitate commercial applications of the above concerns. Free samples/price list.

McC C Marketing: P.O. Box 5317, Whittier, CA 90607; (800) 232-2292. Sells extraordinary books and videos exposing the medical and governmental cover-ups on AIDS. Presents alternative research that may lead to a cure. After years of research, Robert B. Strecker, M.D., Ph. D., has produced an exposé 97-minute video tape entitled "The Strecker Memorandum" (Price only $29.95). He claims AIDS was predicted—requested—created and deployed. Free info. packet available.

Acres U.S.A.: P.O. Box 9547, Kansas City, MO 64133; (816) 737-0064. Editor: Charles Walters. A comprehensive monthly newspaper/magazine all about organic farming, agriculture problems, and natural solutions. Covers health related topics; a strong voice for "eco-agriculture." Subscription $15.00/year. Also offers books and cassette tapes. Free bookshelf catalog and info. packet.

Opole for a Future: 2140 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley, CA 94704; (415) 524-2700. Distributes a 1-hr. video, "Stopping the Coming Ice Age"—available in VHS/BETA, 3/4", 16mm film, and 1" for broadcast. Also available: the book entitled "The End: The Imminent Ice Age & How We Can Stop It," by Larry Ephron.

"SOLSTICE" 3: 201 East Main St., Suite H, Charlottesville, NC 22901. Editor: John David Mann. An excellent magazine concerning perspectives on health and the environment. Addresses many worldwide environmental concerns and alternative solutions. Available through subscription, $20 1 yr./12 issues.

"Soil Remineralization/A Network Newsletter": 152 South St., Northampton, MA 01060; (413) 586-4429. Editor: Joanna Campe. A practical how-to and sources quarterly newsletter; very useful in networking rock dust activists and information on suppliers of equipment internationally. $12/yr., 3-4 issues.

Earth Regeneration Society, Attn: Alden Bryant, 470 Vassar Ave., Berkeley, CA 94708; (415) 525-4877. The ERS is very active & effectively organized in dealing with the climate crisis. They have been pivotal in organizing the creation and presentation of key papers & the effort to stimulate the introduction of appropriate legislation. Involved in reforestation & remineralization projects, etc. Newsletter available.

21st Century Publications: P.O. Box 702, Fairfield, IA 52556; (515) 472-5105. Publishes the book by Viktoras Kulvinska, "Survival into the 21st Century," which includes topics such as live foods, fasting, sprouting, etc. Also distributes numerous retail and wholesale books and cassette tapes on holistic health, ayurvedic medicine, vegetarianism, live food recipe books, directories, etc. Free catalog.

Happiness Press & The Grain & The Salt Society: P.O. Drawer DD, Magalia, CA 95954; (916) 873-0294. President: Jacques de Langre. Offers naturally leavened (unyeasted) breadmaking workshops. Publishes & distributes books & cassette tapes on Do-In acupressure & natural bread making. Sells virgin sea minerals, macrobiotic products, the finest quality stone mill grain grinders, dough mixers & sifters. Also offers "Biological Transmutations" by Professor Kervran, a definitive primer book on health & agriculture for the layperson.

"Diet for the Atomic Age" by Sarah Shannon; paperback. Based on years of research, the author has gathered together medical and scientific data that clearly shows that certain foods can protect you and your family from low level radiation, which appears to be the single most powerful of all toxic materials in our diet. Radiation is all around us. It rises from the ground in the form of radon, is throughout the atmosphere, is emitted from TV screens, computer screens, fire & burglar alarms, police radar units, x-ray machines, power lines, communication dishes, microwave ovens, digital watches, airplane radar stations, etc. Available through Acres, U.S.A. (see above) or order from your local bookstore. In the back of the book are addresses for radiation detectors and anti-radiation devices.

Seed Savers Exchange: R.R. 3, Box 239, Decorah, IA 52101. Kent Wheatly, Director. "The Garden Seed Inventory," edited by Kent Wheatly. A resource inventory of seed catalogs listing all the non-hybrid vegetable and garden seeds still being offered in the U.S.A. & Canada. $17.50. Also available: "The Fruit, Berry & Nut Inventory," $19.00. You can request free membership info. & book list. They network, trade, & exchange non-hybrid seeds.

Peace Seeds: 2385 S.E. Thompson St., Corvallis, OR 97333. Director Alan Kapuler, Ph.D. A planetary gene pool service and resource center sells organic non-hybrid vegetable & garden seeds. Distributes many low cost publications about diversifying the gene pool, etc. Current seed catalog, $4.00. Research journal, Vol. 5, this provides the database for free amino acids found in common vegetables, $10.00. Book list & seed catalog, $1.00.

"Altered Harvest" Jack Dole. An excellent book about agriculture, genetics, and the fate of the world's food supply. Details how our food is produced & distributed. Exposes the specter of tremendous environmental dangers, lower nutritional quality, dwindling biological diversity, as well as economic & political struggles. Order through your local bookstore.

"EARTH: The Stuff of Life" by Firman E. Bear (2nd Edition Revised). A most informative book which covers the problems of soil conservation. Answers questions like: What is soil? Can Earth feed an ever growing population? What effect does acid rain have on plants? It clearly tells about the soil's relationship to the growth of plants. Includes new information on geology, agriculture, population, land management, air & water pollution, etc. Order through Acres, U.S.A. (see above) or from your local bookstore.

Resource List

"The Organic Manifesto" by Lee Fryer. covers the history of organic farming and the roots of the modern agricultural chemical revolution. Order through Acres, U.S.A. (see above) or from your local bookstore.

Price-Pottenger Foundation: P.O. Box 2614, La Mesa, CA 92041. Publishes several health books relating physical degeneration through many generations, due to the introduction of refined foods. Many pictures demonstrating deformed teeth & structural changes. Free catalog.

"Shattering: The Diversity of Life in the Age of Biotechnology" by Carl Fowler & Pat Mooney. Contains latest information on genetic manipulation of our food & the effects of hybridization, etc. Available May, 1990. Order through your local bookstore.

National Health Federation: P.O. Box 688, Monrovia, CA 91017; (818) 357-2181. An educational organization dedicated to preserving America's alternative freedoms of choice. Publishes an excellent subscription-based magazine "Health Freedom News." Has free info. packet, newsletter, book and cassette tape list.

National Coalition to Stop Food Irradiation: Box 59-0488, San Francisco, CA 94159, (415) 626-2734. This group provides information relating to the hazards of food irradiation & works to prevent the use of the process.

"Secrets of the Soil - The Way to Save Your Garden, Your Farm, & the Planet" by Peter Tompkins & Christopher Bird. We also recommend an excellent book that has been around for a number of years, "The Secret Life of Plants," by the same author. Scientific evidence showing that humans can affect plant growth by thoughts and emotions. Available at many bookstores around the U.S.

Ohsawa-America/Goldmine: (800) 647-2929 or (619) 234-9711. Having a reputation of supplying the world's highest quality macrobiotic mail-order foods, sea vegetables and specialty cookware. Free retail/wholesale catalog.

Mountain Ark Trading Company: 120 S.E. Ave., Fayetteville, AR 72701; (800) 643-8909. Retail mail-order supplier of natural macrobiotic foods, quality cookware, books, video tapes, U.S. Soil brand rock dust, & more. Free catalog.

Rural Advancement Fund International: P.O. Box 1029, Pittsboro, NC 27312; (919) 542-5292. Publishes "The RAFI Communique Newsletter," $15.00/yr. which exposes the most current news about biogenetic engineering, hybridization, the security of the world's major gene banks, and the exploitation of third world crops by major oil and drug companies, etc. Also distributes the book, "The Law of Life," by Hope Shand, Cary Fowler, and Pat Mooney. This book details the harmful effects of hybridization biotechnology, corporate farming, etc. Free catalog of publications.

Tim Binder D.C., 2321 Mapleton Ave., Boulder, CO 80302. President of the University of Science and Philosophy. Publishes information covering ten major world problems and possible solutions, some of which are: climatic changes, agriculture, education, health care, human relations, etc. Free information packet & book list available.

Serving Kihei Residences & Businesses
With Prompt, Professional

24-HR SERVICE

Free Estimates

879-9211

1295 S. Kihei Rd., Suite K/PFC
P.O. Box 2128, Kihei, HI 96753

KAMA'AINA NEWS

MESSAGE TO MAUI'S LOCAL ARTISTS

The Kama'aina News is interested in acquiring sketches, graphics, cartoons, borders, fillers, and other miscellaneous art to enhance the format of our paper. If you have such art and wish to exchange it for exposure and/or advertising of your work or other related activities in our publications, please contact the managing editor at 872-6036.

MAHALO

Acupuncture • Massage • Electro Acupuncture

Lapa'au
HEALTH CENTER

David 'Kawika' Davidson II 242-8477
Licensed Acupuncturist, L.A.C.
1129 Lower Main #302 Parkview Square, Wailuku, HI 96793

UP-COUNTRY

WHOLISTIC CHIROPRACTIC

DR. R. J. LOZANO D.C.
3660 BALDWIN AVE.
MAKAWAO, MAUI, HI 96768

(808) 572-8814

THE LIGHT CLINIC

Special Complete
Spinal
Adjustment: $10

Kama'aina Rates
Available to All

Acupuncture Colonies
Swedish &
Shiatsu Massage
Vitamin Therapy

Dr. Jonathan B. Light 244-9313

N.D., L. Ac., Naturopathic Physician, Acupuncturist

1129 Lower Main #301, Wailuku
Auto Accidents, Most Insurance Accepted, Visa/Mastercard

FRIENDS OF LIBRARY SEEK SPACE

The Maui Friends of the Library used book store will be moving from its present location by the end of April. The remodeling and reconstruction of the Waiehu Beach Center is making it necessary for all occupants to move.

During the month of April the USED BOOK bookstore will have information available concerning the exact date of the move and how to locate the new facility.

In the meantime the USED BOOK bookstore is having a giant inventory reduction sale. You can help us. Come to our present location at 270 Waiehu Beach Road and buy books at the reduced prices. It will save all of our volunteers packing and handling.

If you want to help sign up as a volunteer. We will need vans, trucks, and strong backs. For additional information call the USED BOOK at 242-6062.

Mahalo from Maui Friends of the Library.

LIVING GREEN

by Dove White

The passage of three decades of clearing up our inner environment (bodies/minds/spirit) during the 1960's, 70's, and 80's has come to fruition. Now is the time to clean up our outer environment. The 1990's is the decade of reforming the planetary body/mind/spirit. It requires great cooperation among all peoples, everywhere.

The phrase "think globally, act locally" serves us well with this passage. What we each think and do each day important to give our earth assistance. Only as we each make real changes in our lives will our planet continue to support many species, including humans, who depend on sharing these valuable and precious resources.

We were recently reminded that our air, water, and food are the essential ingredients to our survival. Let us get very real as to how we can thankfully protect them.

The Green Movement has provided some guidelines for our participation in this process. Overall, let us simplify, simplify, simplify.

LIVING GREEN: 101 Green Things You Can Do

Green values are not just guidelines you use once every few years in deciding how to vote; they are things you can live by every day. This list is for those who have the "Green spirit" and want to incorporate it further into their lives.

1. Recycle newspaper, aluminum, glass and tin.
2. Recycle motor oil.
3. Use cloth diapers.
4. Re-use egg cartons and paper bags.
5. Avoid styrofoam—it can't be recycled.
6. Avoid disposable plates, cups, and utensils.
7. Use rags instead of paper towels.
8. Use paper bags, not towels, to drain grease.
9. Recycle unneeded items.
10. Use the back of discardable paper for scratch paper.
11. Be responsible and creative with leftover food.
12. Use the water from cooking vegetables to make soup.
13. Mend & repair, rather than discard & replace.
14. Invest in well-made, functional clothing.
15. Buy bulk and unpackaged rather than packaged goods.
16. Purchase goods in reusable or recyclable containers.
17. Buy organic, pesticide-free foods.
18. Buy foods without additives and preservatives.
19. Use non-toxic pest control.
20. Compost your food scraps.
21. Grow your own food (even small kitchen gardens!).
22. Volunteer to start or help with a community garden.
23. Eat foods from low on the food chain, not meat.
24. Avoid highly processed foods.
25. Support food co-ops.
26. Discover where the food and goods you buy came from.
27. Buy locally grown produce and other foods.
28. Volunteer to maintain local parks & wilderness.
29. Buy living Christmas trees.
30. Plant trees in your community.
31. Learn about the plants and animals in your region.
32. Learn about the cultural diversity of your bioregion.
33. Explore and learn about your bioregion.
34. Discover your watershed & work to protect it.
35. Oppose the use of roadside defoliants in your area.
36. Use non-toxic, biodegradable soaps and detergents.
37. Put in a water conserving showerhead.
38. Learn where your waste and sewage goes.
39. Keep hazardous chemicals in spillproof containers.
40. Turn off the water while you brush your teeth.
41. Put a water conservation device in your toilet.
42. Shop by phone first, then pick up your purchase.
43. Learn where the energy for your home comes from.
44. Support your local utility's conservation program.
45. Hang your clothes out to dry.
46. Be sure your house is well insulated.
47. Weather-seal your home thoroughly.
48. Heat your home responsibly, with renewable energy.
49. Don't burn green wood.
50. Put a catalytic converter on your wood stove.
51. Turn off lights when not in use.
52. Turn down your hot water heater.
53. Lower your thermostat & wear warmer clothes.
54. Take shorter showers.
55. Buy energy efficient electrical appliances.
56. Drive a fuel efficient car.
57. Conserve gas by walking, bicycling, and carpooling.
58. Use rechargeable batteries.
59. Research socially responsible investments.
60. Support local credit unions.
61. Support local shops and restaurants, not chains.
62. "Adopt a grandparent" from the local senior center.
63. Volunteer to cook for senior citizens.
64. Hold a community potluck to meet your neighbors.
65. Volunteer to help with neighborhood children.
66. Pick up litter along highways and near your home.
67. Sponsor a clothes swap.
68. Become involved with community projects and events.
69. Organize or participate in community sports.
70. Speak out about your values in community groups.
71. Participate in sister city & cultural exchanges.
72. Educate yourself on global and "third world" issues.
73. Support politically active groups.
74. Spend time visualizing global peace.
75. Learn how your senators and representatives vote.
76. Be an active voter—attend "town meetings."
77. Vote for candidates who support Green values.
78. Write letters to your representatives.
79. Become involved with your child's school.
80. Encourage your child's natural talents and interests.
81. Organize or join a neighborhood toy co-op.
82. Put toxic substances out of reach of children.
83. Teach your children ecological wisdom.
84. Listen to their needs and support their dreams.
85. Communicate openly with your friends and co-workers.
86. Acknowledge someone who provides quality service.
87. Work to understand people with different views.
88. Be conscious of the struggles of oppressed racism.
89. Read books—you will learn a lot.
90. Donate blood if your health permits.
91. Consider donating your body to science.
92. Explore ways to reduce the stress in your life.
93. Practice preventive health care.
94. Exercise regularly and eat nutritious foods.
95. Bring music into your life.
96. Learn about the medications you put into your body.
97. Practice responsible family planning.
98. Learn first aid and emergency procedures.
99. Take time to play, relax and go into nature.
100. Decrease watching TV and increase creative learning.
101. Have fun and be joyful. Don't worry, be happy!

Afraid of missing the news?
Want your own copy without hassle?
SUBSCRIBE NOW!

Subscription Rate: $15 for 12 issues.

Name _____

Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

Send check or money order to:

Kama'aina News
P.O. Box 33031
Kahului, HI 96733

Lelehuna Kiss
Uncovering stroll thru love's sigh
Changing stones karma
shal

RECYCLED APPLIANCES

ALL GUARANTEED

VISA/MasterCard
Credit Cards Accepted

We Buy Non-Working
Dryers & GE Washers

Phone 579-956

THE FACTS ON THE STORY OF JAPANESE-U.S. TRADE

Lee Iacocca

990, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ike Will Rogers used to say, all I know is what I read in papers.

ve been reading about how things are done in Tokyo how they're done in Washington for more than 40 s, and they haven't changed much. You be the judge:

-We Love You... Last month, Alan Greenspan, rman of the Federal Reserve Board, testified before gress about Japanese companies investing in the U.S. headline in the New York Times read: "Foreign sting in U.S. Helps, Greenspan Says."

-We Love You Not... In April 1955, Nation's Business a major story on U.S. companies wanting to invest in m. The headline read: "Keep Out! Japan Tells U.S. stors."

-Ask Not What Your Country Can Do for You... Today, Defense Department has more than 1 million civilian loyees, while Business Week reports our Trade resentative's Office (the group that protects America's e interests against the world) has 160 employees.

-Ask What Your Country Can Do for Japan... Forty s ago, Newsweek reported that Japan opened foreign e offices in 10 cities around the world and hired an army ,000 trade reps to encourage nations to buy from Japan. ss who funded the program? The U.S. — with a $20 ion grant.

-All Hope Abandon... Today, the U.S. buys one-third ll Japanese exports. For the decade of the 80's, the U.S. a $380 billion trade deficit with Japan — $240 billion in s alone.

-Ye Who Try to Enter Here... In 1954, Studebaker-card wanted to build an auto assembly plant in Japan to rt cars. The offer was refused. Chrysler, Ford and GM looked into building plants in Japan, but they all dioned the idea because of the maze of rules Japan osed to keep intruders out.

-Don't Do Unto Others... Today, Business Week rts that U.S. law firms in Japan cannot hire and form nerships with local lawyers, the only ones who may lle cases involving Japanese law.

-As You'd Have Them Do Unto You... In the 1950's, 'sweek reported the Japanese paid Thomas Dewey 1,000 for his know-how as a U.S. based legal counselor trade adviser.

-Buy, Buy America... In 1989, Japan spent almost $14 on acquiring U.S. companies, up from just $600 million 1985. It has lent $20 billion to facilitate U.S. leveraged uts.

-Bye, Bye America... In 1954, 70 companies tried to st in Japan to make products for export. One American essageman was quoted in a 1954 Time: "They tell you it ably won't be approved and if you insist on applying just drag their feet until you withdraw." From 1950 to , Japan allowed in less than $50 million in U.S. capital.

-We Mist the Point... The Japanese say their market is , but in 1986 the press reported U.S. vaporizers were out because they had the wrong tilt angle. In 1988, ling Brothers Circus couldn't bring in U.S. beef to feed : hungry lions because of beef quotas. Now, Tylenol t be sold there because the government limits its key killing ingredient. And this month I read where Japan n't want to let Toys 'R Us in. If you can believe this, say toys are "cultural." (Cars are a big part of my re, but that hasn't kept Japan from grabbing about 30 ent of the U.S. car market.)

-They Made the Point... After World War II, the U.S. d no limitations on peaceful industrial production in a. Thanks largely to U.S. government procurement s and exports, Japan recovered its pre-war industrial at by 1950 and doubled it by 1956.

-An American in Tokyo... There are fewer than 150 scientists working in Japanese labs, but more than) Japanese researchers working in U.S. labs.

-Rhapsody in Blew It... Between 1945 and 1959, the rese had negotiated more than 850 technological tance contracts (more than 550 with U.S. companies).

— Raiders of the Real Japan... Last year, in the biggest-ever Japanese takeover of an American company, Sony Corp. paid $3.4 billion for Columbia Pictures. This came less than two years after Sony paid $2 billion to buy CBS records.

— Murder, They Yelled... Back in the 1950's, Sony's golden goose was the tape recorder, which it developed after seeing an American-made one belonging to the U.S. Army. But according to the book "Fast Forward," the company hollered "bloody murder when a few American machines were sold to Japanese customers."

— They Never Met a Product They Liked... In his new book "The Japan That Can Say No," Sony Chairman Akio Morita says: "There are few things in the United States that Japanese want to buy, but there are a lot of things in Japan that Americans want to buy. This is at the root of the trade imbalance."

— Nothing Father From the Truth... Last July in Forbes, Hideo Morita (Akio's son) said: "My father's generation knew they were playing by different trade rules from the West when it came to trade, but they pretended they didn't understand the rules. That's why they won."

Sometimes the facts speak for themselves, don't they?

LEE IACocca

©1990, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

FLEET REDUCTION

SALE SALE SALE

SAVE MONEY NOW ON ALL VEHICLES IN STOCK

Plymouth Colt  #DC-3928 3 Dr. Hatchback, Bucket Seats, W/Dual Recliner, 4 speed Trans., 1.5 L. SOHC MPI Engine Only $6,988*	Dodge Dakota  #DAK-3768 Auto. trans, W/Overdrive, 3.9 L V6 Eng., Sliding rear wind. Tach., Int. Wipers, Rear step bumper, 22 Gallon Fuel Tank, Power Steering, AM/FM Radio Only $9,988*
Plymouth Laser  #LARS-3914 3 Dr. Hatchback, 2.0 Liter Eng., Auto. Trans, A/C, AM/FM Cass W/Six Speakers & Graphic Equalizer, Power Windows, Power Locks. Only $15,688*	Power Ram 50  #W50SE-4002 Automatic trans., 3.0 L, V-6 Engine, Bucket Seats, AM/FM Cass., Air Conditioning, Digital Clock, Limited slip differential Only $13,988*

LEASE OR BUY NOW WITH NO MONEY DOWN!

WE NEED YOUR TRADES! GUARANTEED HIGHEST VALUES OFFERED NOW!

ISLAND DODGE

110 S. Hana Hwy., Kahului 877-0031

SALE ENDS 4/30/90

Pearl bearing orchid surrounded by soft air ferns rapturous love scent

shali

MARS HILL

Religion Notes

"The World According To Wilkerson"

A Sudden Dissolving — A Meltdown

Make no mistake about it, God's Word clearly warns a great dissolving will happen. I believe it is imminent. It is not incidental that Paul spoke of the "dissolving" of the physical body. "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (2 Corinthians 5:1). Peter warned, "Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and earnestly desiring the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with intense heat" (2 Peter 3:11,12). David prophesied, "The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolved: I bear up the pillars of it. For in the hand of the Lord there is a cup, and the wine is red; it is full of mixture; and he poureth out of the same: but the dregs thereof, all the wicked of the earth shall wring them out, and drink them" (Psalm 75:3,8).

God will "melt" America, just as He promised to do to Israel. "As they gather silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin, into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it; so will I gather you in mine anger and in my fury, and I will leave you there, and melt you. Yea, I will gather you, and blow upon you in the fire of my wrath, and ye shall be melted in the midst thereof. As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the midst thereof; and ye shall know that I the Lord have poured out my fury upon you" (Ezekiel 22:20-22).

America's cup of iniquity is full; the bear has prepared and is set to act — it is now only a matter of time. From over the North Pole the deadly missiles will come. Fear and some kind of supernatural impulse will cause the enemy to make the first strike. "For the spoilers shall come unto her from the north, saith the Lord" (Jeremiah 51:48). They themselves will be terrorized by the destruction and havoc they unleashed upon the earth. "The lord of hosts hath purposed it, to stain the pride of all glory and to bring into contempt all the honourable of the earth. He stretched out his hand over the sea, he shook the kingdoms: the Lord hath given a commandment against the merchant city, to destroy the stronghold thereof" (Isaiah 23:9,11).

Zachariah spoke of the day when God would "gather all nations against Jerusalem to battle... and the Lord shall fight against those nations" (Zachariah 14:2,3). America will never fight against Israel, nor will we protect her, God will protect Israel and send fire on us! If you cannot believe that fiery judgment is near, you must believe it is inevitable. Zephaniah proved it: "Therefore wait ye upon me, saith the Lord, until the day that I rise up to the prey: for my determination is to gather the nations, that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce anger: for all the earth shall be devoured with the fire of my jealousy" (Zephaniah 3:8).

The prophet Isaiah puts it all beyond argument. If you believe God's Word is truth, then you must believe He is going to utterly empty and spoil any land that God judges. He wrote, "The land shall be utterly emptied, and utterly spoiled; for the Lord hath spoken this word" (Isaiah 24:3).

HODDING CARTER: SPOKESMAN FOR GOD?

by Cal Thomas

© 1990, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Recent controversies involving a California legislator, who was denied Communion for her pro-abortion position, and the run-in between New York Gov. Mario Cuomo and Auxiliary Bishop Austin Vaughan, who said Cuomo's soul was in danger if he did not repent of his "pro-choice" abortion stand before he died, highlight the continuing tension between the religious, the political and the politically religious.

The latest to dive into these troubled waters is a man who used to speak for Jimmy Carter's State Department. In a column for The Wall Street Journal last week, Hodding Carter III, who describes himself as a "practicing Christian," exhumes historical examples of bigotry and stupidity as evidence that political consensus is to be preferred to the pursuit of biblical truth.

"Christianity has been grotesquely wrong over the centuries," writes Carter, who lists the slaughter of Jews, the torturing of heretics and the justification "by holy writ everything from holy war to segregation to Nazism to the divine right of Kings," as evidence that Christians apparently can't be trusted with political power.

Such acts are not a failure of Christianity but of men misinterpreting or manipulating Christian principles for their own ends. And why does Carter ignore the good accomplished in the name of Christianity, which far outweighs the bad?

Carter says that because "Christians" have differed in the past, there can be no guarantee that anyone can discern the will of God on public issues, particularly abortion.

Our Founding Fathers, of course, would disagree with Carter. The fact is that the Founders believed that truth does have a Source.

G.K. Chesterton wrote, "America is the only nation in the world that is founded on a creed. That creed is set forth with dogmatic and even theological lucidity in the Declaration of Independence."

George Washington said, "It is impossible to govern rightly without God and the Bible." James Madison said, "We have staked the whole future of American civilization, not upon the power of government, far from it. We have staked the future... upon the capacity of each and all of us to govern ourselves, to control ourselves, to sustain ourselves according to the Ten Commandments of God."

Said Tocqueville, "I do not know whether all Americans have a sincere faith in their religion...but I am certain that they hold it to be indispensable for the maintenance of republican institutions."

Our sixth president, John Quincy Adams, said that from the beginning, Americans "connected in one indissoluble band the principles of civil government with the principles of Christianity." In fact, these principles are the surest guarantee against discrimination for those who choose not to embrace that faith.

The Bible reveals that civil government was instituted God so that unrestrained men and women would not destroy themselves by doing what is right in their own eyes further teaches that leaders are God's servants and expected to rule according to those principles He has clearly established.

For politicians like Mario Cuomo and writers like Hodding Carter to try to drive a wedge between faith and practice dishonors both. Thomas Carlyle said, "Conviction is worthless unless it is converted into conduct."

Politicians are worthless when they place the state opinion polls ahead of what they claim to believe is the will of God. For Cuomo, or any other politician, to say he believes abortion to be the taking of innocent human life against God's will, and then to refuse to use the power of civil law to protect such life, is a morally impeachable offense.

As John Locke, who influenced Thomas Jefferson, wrote in his "Of Civil Government" in 1689, "Thus the Law of Nature stands as an Eternal Rule to all Men, Legislators as well as others. The Rules that they make for other Men's Actions, must, as well as their own, and other Men's Actions, be comfortable to the Law of Nature, i.e. to the Will of God..."

The Bible says "Thou shalt not kill," and "Before I formed you in your mother's womb, I knew you." Hodding Carter and Mario Cuomo refuse to use civil law to protect human life, it is not because God is unclear on the subject. It is because they are ignoring him.

There's no accounting for tastes, as the woman said when somebody told her her son was wanted by the police.

-Franklin Pierce Adams

For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believes in Him shall not perish, but have everlasting life.

- John 3:16

North Shore Church
at Pala School

Historic cause of demise of many great civilizations:
Topsoil depletion.

Percentage of original U.S. topsoil lost to date: 75

Amount of U.S. cropland lost each year to soil erosion: 4,000,000 acres.

Percentage of U.S. topsoil loss associated with livestock raising: 85

Number of acres of U.S. forest which have been cleared to create cropland to produce a meat-centered diet: 260,000,000

How often an acre of U.S. trees disappears: Every 8 seconds

Amount of trees spared per year by each individual who switches to a pure vegetarian diet: 11 acre

Scene from: "The Padre was a Wino."

CUSTOM FURNITURE
SOLID WOOD COUNTERTOPS
LOCAL AND EXOTIC WOODS
QUALITY PRECISION MILLING
MARINE STRUCTURAL REPAIR
A SOLID INVESTMENT

Woodrose Millworks

DAVID BRYAN
OWNER, CRAFTSMAN

HAIKU WOODWORKERS
100 C HAIKU RD., HAIKU, HI 96708
MESSAGE - 572-0841
SHOP - 575-2474

REAL FOOD

by Christine Shaw

There is a great protein myth that has been deeply ingrained in most of us since childhood. Remember those nutrition charts that we learned our basic food groups from in grade school? They emphasized a diet high in protein, meat, dairy and eggs, supplemented with fruit, vegetables and grains. Did you know that those charts were provided by the meat, dairy and egg industry? Did you know that the supplementary foods in fact provide all the protein you need? This includes athletes, body builders and pregnant moms!

I know it's hard to believe because we have been so thoroughly educated by the meat, dairy and egg industry to believe that we need animal protein to be strong and healthy. This simply is not true. Fruits, vegetables and grains have a perfect proportion of protein for our bodies. And we don't need to be strict about food combining to apply a "complete" protein. The truth is that it's actually difficult to get a protein deficient diet!

Of course, a total junk food diet of sodas, candy and chips would produce a protein deficiency. But a normal intake of rice, toast and cereal for breakfast; soup or sandwich and salad for lunch; and a hearty vegetarian dinner like the one in this column provides you with ample protein. Two of the benefits of the absence of animal protein are no cholesterol build-up in the arteries (the main cause of heart attack and stroke) and no calcium leaching due to excess protein which causes one out of four women to suffer bone loss known as osteoporosis.

Find out these facts for yourself with your open, adult mind. Diet for a New America by John Robbins is an excellent source of well documented information. The following recipe is one of my favorites and can be "dressed up" with little side dishes of condiments: raisins, coconut, nuts, or chutney.

The secret of this curry dish is to slow cook the curry sauce over low heat to release the delicious pungent Indian flavors. So let the sauce simmer while you prepare the dahl and veggies. This recipe serves 4.

CURRIED VEGETABLES

Shopping list:

- 1 pkg. Ono Curry Mix (preferably)
- 1 16-oz. can coconut milk
- 1 cube margarine
- olive oil
- 1 c. split peas or lentils
- 3 large onions
- 1 bulb garlic
- 2 c. basmati rice or brown rice
- 1/2 lb. green beans
- 1 small head cauliflower
- 1 potato
- 1 zucchini
- 2 carrots
- 1/2 lb. mushrooms
- 1 green pepper
- 1 small head broccoli

Sauce: Dice 4 cloves garlic and chop one large onion and saute gently in 2 T. margarine and 2 T. olive oil for ten minutes. Then add 5 t. curry powder and cook slowly for 30 minutes stirring occasionally so it does not stick to pan. Then add approximately 2 cups of coconut milk and continue to slow cook for 10-15 minutes. This is your curry sauce. If you desire a sweeter sauce, add a few tablespoons of mashed banana or papaya!

Vegetables: Cut into bite size pieces all of the remaining vegetables (except for the 2 onions and the leftover garlic) and steam them until they are just tender. Place in a large pot and pour the curry sauce over them stirring gently, then cover them and set aside to serve warm over rice later.

Dahl: Boil gently without covering, until tender but not overcooked, the split peas or lentils in 2 cups (or more) boiling water. In a medium frying pan, sauté the 2 onions chopped fine in 2 T. margarine and 2 T. olive oil for 10 minutes. Then add 2 t. curry powder and continue simmering for 15 minutes. Add this onion spice mixture to the peas or lentils and cook for 15 minutes more. Add a little Bragg's or Spike if you like.

Serve your curried vegetables and dahl over the rice of your choice and accompany this with a fresh green salad and enjoy. Remember that you can use any combination of vegetables that you like or have on hand for the curry and add tofu or tempeh chunks if you wish.

I welcome your questions and comments. Please write to me.

Christine Shaw
Good Taste Catering
PO Box 1590
Makawao, Maui 96768.

Fresh Roasted
On Maui

WHOLE BEANS

1234 Lower Main Street
Wailuku, Hawaii 96793
(808) 244-9530

MAUI LIQUIDATORS

Come on by and just talk.

180 K Wakea
Kahului 96732

877-4343

LATHE

You gotta see it to believe it!

$999.00

TOOLS

40 Piece Tool Set in case	$19.99
10 Piece Socket Drive Set	12.99
6 Piece Combo Wrench Set	6.99
Assorted Paint Brushes	1.00 ^{up}
25 Piece Allen Wrench Set	3.99
4 Piece Crescent Wrench Set	12.99
12" Pipe Wrench	2.99

Answering Machine

$??? A Deal!

Cordless
Telephone

$??? A Steal!

MASK
FINS
SNORKEL

$29.00

Size 12-15 Black Fins
Special $6.00 pair

CLOSE OUT!

100 Piece
Electric
Train Set

$29.00

Linear Home Security System

$499.00

EARTH DAY FOCUS

17th • Walden Books In-house Earth Day Benefit Book Fair • Walden Books Kihei Kukui Mall Store — 7:00 pm to 9:00 pm

Percentage of proceeds from books sold during the times indicated above is donated to Earth Day. Come buy your books and help fund Earth Day projects. Happening at Walden Books Kaahumanu and Maui Mall stores on April 19th. Contact: Katie Deshotels: 667-6947

17th • Captive Dolphin Issue Panel Discussion • 7:00 pm Maui Community College — Student Lounge

In conjunction with the Maui Ocean Center & Maui Community College Natural History Spring Lecture Series, this informative forum will feature leading environmentalists scientists and researchers discussing the issue of captive dolphins. Sponsors: Maui Community College & Maui Ocean Center. Call for details. Contact: Maui Ocean Center — 661-8775 18th • Ohana Earth Day Luncheon • Noon-2pm Maui Beach Hotel.

In honor of Earth Day, the Ohana luncheon this month will feature Dr. Jack Lewin. As the Director of Health for the State of Hawaii, Dr. Lewin is in charge of all environmental programs for the state. Also includes music & free booths for environmental groups. Call for luncheon or booth reservations. Sponsor: Alaya Unlimited. Contact: Susie Osborn 244-7400

18th • Lecture — "I Told You So" by Jim Dator • 7:00 pm — Maui Community College Student Lounge

Jim Dator, General Secretary of the World Future's Studies Federation — the major professional organization that studies future trends, was the featured speaker at Maui's 1st Earth Day at MCC and is returning for an update on what's happened in the last 20 years, hence the title, "I told you so" Sponsor: Maui Community College. Contact: Dick Mayer 242-1274

19th • Walden Books In-house Earth Day Benefit Book Fair • Walden Books Stores 10:00am to 2:00pm — Maui Mall Store • 4:00pm to 8:00pm — Kaahumanu Store

Percentage of proceeds from books sold during the times indicated above is donated to Earth Day. Come buy your books and help fund Earth Day projects. (Walden Books will also have a booth with environmental-related books at the MCC Ecology Fair on April 22nd and a portion of the proceeds from sales will be donated to Earth Day.) Contact: Katie Deshotels: 667-6947

20th • MCC Sixties Dance • 9:00pm — Maui Community College — Student Lounge

The dance features the music of the early rock era when bell-bottoms, love beads, tie-dyes and peace symbols were the order of the day. Everyone is welcome to join in the nostalgic party — come dressed for fun! Sponsored by Associated Students of MCC. Contact: 242-1271

21st • Napili Hau Community Recycling Center Open House Benefit • 11:00am to 7:00pm — Napili Hau Recreation Center

Come see an operational pilot recycling project that one community has undertaken on their own. Open house, food, music and guided tours. Please park on Hanawai Street above the recreation center. Call for information and/or directions. Contact: 669-2433

21st & 28th • "Save-a-Sea Turtle" Kayaking Adventure • (Pilot project to continue if sufficient participation.)

A group of 10 volunteers will be taught the basics of sea kayaking to participate in on-water pick-up of plastics, a lethal threat to sea turtles. Beginners welcome. Call in advance to sign up. Contact: Ron Bass — 572-6299

21st & 22nd • Lahaina Cannery Earth Day Celebration • 9:30am to 5:00pm — Lahaina Cannery Mall

Activities to include:

ENTERTAINMENT: Nightfall — 4/21-1 to 2:00pm — 4/22 — 11:30am to 12:30pm Keiki Hula — Halau Hula Keola' Alii O Kekai — 4/22 — 1 to 2:00pm The Jones — 4/21 — 11:30am to 12:30pm — 4/22 — 2:30pm to 4:00pm

CRAFTS; basketry, woodwork, painting, hand-made paper, seashore items, bamboo, collage, sand etchings ENVIRONMENTAL BOOTHS. Contact: 661-5304

Maui Earth Day Schedule of Events: April 15 - 30, 1990

21st • HANA — Open House at Kahanu Gardens of the National Tropical Botanical Gardens • 10:00am to 2:00pm

Visitors and residents invited. Look for sign on Hana Road. Contact Nancy Bergau — 248-8912

22nd thru 28th • HANA Cultural Center Open House • 10:00am to 4:00pm

Visitors and residents have an opportunity to see native Hawaiian and Polynesian artifacts and photographic collection that describes the people, structures and landscape of times past. Located at junction of Keanini and Uakea Road. Hana Town. Contact: 248-8622

22nd • Sunrise at Haleakala Haleakala National Park •

Earth Day begins on Maui at sunrise with guided hikes through the Park including a children's hike through Hosmer Grove and guided hikes through the Nature Conservancy's Waikamoi Preserve. Entrance to the Park will be free today and people are encouraged to car-pool by meeting at Maui Community College parking lot at 4:30am. Sponsors: Haleakala National Park; Nature Conservancy; Sierra Club Hawaii Chapter. Contact Kim Sikorak 572-9306

22nd • Maui Community College Earth Day Ecology Fair • 9:00am to 6:30pm Maui Community College

Features environmental groups, booths, issues discussions, music, multimedia shows, speakers, panels and live radio remote broadcast. NO ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES — NO COOLERS PLEASE! Sponsor: Maui Community College. Contact: Dawn Okazaki 242-1260

Highlights to include:

MUSIC WITH A MESSAGE including: Nightfall, Fulton Tashombe & Friends, Hauula, Double Take, Venus, Mitch Kepa & Friends, Scotty and the Fans, Hana's Own, The Penguins, and others.

CHILDREN'S ACTIVITIES including: Earth Day Birthday Party for youngsters. A time for children to learn about Earth Day and pledge to do what they can. Program to feature the video showing of HBO's "EARTH DAY BIRTHDAY" — an animated family special about star-touched baby dinosaurs who join forces and recruit other creatures to save the planet, followed by the signing of all of the Earth Day Birthday pledge card and an Earth Day Birthday cake. Sponsor: Chronicle Cablevision; Maui Epicenter. Contact: Andrea Swanander 874-8172

NEW GAMES will have their Earth Ball with them! Contact: Shane Usem 244-3744

ENERGY EXPOSITION TO INCLUDE:

Ecological Products Display/Sponsor: Dept. of Human Concerns, Div. of Economic Development, Energy Ext. Service. Contact: Kal Kobayashi 243-7832; Premiere of the Energy Video Festival featuring State and Maui energy programs/Sponsor: Dept. of Human Concerns, Div. of Economic Development, Energy Ext. Service. Contact Kal Kobayashi.

Premiere of Alternative Energy Activity Van, a mobile exhibit of alternative energy devices, resources and their practical applications including photovoltaic cells, parabolic dish collector, solar food dryer/Sponsor: James Thompson. Contact: 572-8722

Other Energy Exhibits including: solar car demonstration, meter reading display, energy efficiency demonstrations and educational programs.

22nd — 27th • HANA — Hawaiian Cultural and Natural History Hikes & Talks • Daily at 1:00pm, at the National Park parking area in Kipahulu — 10 miles southwest of Hana on county highway 31

How could thousands of people have lived in the Hana district without plastics, oils, steel, stores and nylon fishing nets? Park Rangers to lead short walks to pre-historic Hawaiian cultural sites to discuss such topics as: recyclable tools & utensils made from native and Polynesian introduced plants & self-sufficiency of Hawaiian sustained yield fishing & farming practices. Contact: Mark Tanaka-Sanders 248-8260

22nd • HANA — Earth Day Festival • 10:00am to 4:00pm

A celebration of the environmental principles of the Hawaiian culture through traditional mele (music), dance, food and games. To renew dedication to the perpetuation of the Hawaiian sustainable lifestyle. Sponsor: Friends of Hana Coast Inc. Hana Community Associations, Malailena. Contact: Eve Dana 248-7769

22nd thru 27th • HANA — National Park Service Day display • National Park at Kipahulu

Display of biodegradable/recyclable products of all Hawaiians with Hawaiian plants and sustained yield sufficiency farming and fishing of old Hawaii. Contact: Mark Tanaka-Sanders 248-8260

22nd — 27th • HANA — Plant a native plant • National Park in Kipahulu

Hawaiian plants will be available for volunteers who will help reforest Kipahulu Valley's coastal areas. Go to Kipahulu to hike or swim? Plant a native tree first. They may be borrowed from rangers at the ranger station or a parking area. Contact: Mark Tanaka-Sanders 248-8260

22nd • Whale Day • Kalama Park.

This 10th annual event will include 5 & 10k runs, volleyball tournaments, food, music and speakers. Sponsor: Pacific Whale Foundation. Contact: Paul Forestall 879-8811

26th • Lecture — "Environmental Education from Bottom Up: A Nature Center for Maui?" by Ted Chotzen • 7:00pm Maui Community College — Sci Building 10A

Tamar is Executive Director of the Hawaii Nature Center. Come hear of efforts to establish a Nature Center on Maui. Contact: Dick Mayer 242-1274

27th • HANA School Arbor Day Activities • Hana School

In celebration of Earth Week and Arbor Day, Park Rangers will visit Hana School to participate in planting Polynesian Native Hawaiian plants with Hana's school children. They will also help landscape public grounds and perpetuate Hawaiian heritage with Hawaiian trees. Contact: Mark Tanaka-Sanders 248-8260

Special Dedication of Murals depicting the elements of land-sea as depicted in the Hawaiian culture at Hana School. A four year project by the children of Hana School.

Time capsule to be buried by the Senior Class of 1990. To be dug up in the year 2000. Will include the seniors' wishes for Hana and the Earth in the year 2000. Sponsors: Friends of the Hana Coast Inc. Contact: Eve Dana 248-7769

28th • "Keep America Beautiful" Celebrates Earth Day 1990 • County-wide.

On "Keep America Beautiful Day" (28th), Maui will conduct beach, park and roadway clean-ups, beautification and planting projects, and removal of "hot spots" such as abandoned autos. Sponsors: Community Work Day; Maui Scrap Metals, and a wide array of community business. Contact: Jan Dapitan 243-7325 for more information on what is going on in your neighborhood.

28th • Auto Amnesty Day • County-wide.

A new litter law says you can be fined up to $1000 for litter on your property. Call 243-7325 to have abandoned or unwanted autos removed from private or public lands. GO WITH IT AND GET RID OF IT! Sponsors: Community Work Day; Maui Recycling Group; Maui Scrap Metals; Haleakala Transport, Shifting Sands, Hisamoto Body Fender, Inc., Frank's Towing Service, Doctor Jim's Auto Repair & Towing, Sam's 24-hr Towing. Contact: Jan Dapitan 243-7325

28th • Maui Epicenter • Open House • 11:00am to 4:00pm/Kihei

Demonstration of ecological living project to show simple things you can do in your own home to live in an environmentally sound manner. Applications of permaculture, recycling and energy efficiency. Call for directions. Contact: Epicenter — 874-8172

28th • Composting Project Demonstration • 12:00 noon to 4:00pm

Maalea Community Association demonstrated how one community on Maui has undertaken active ways to reduce waste in the landfills by composting organic matter. Call for directions and details. Contact: Marshall Smith — 242-5000

HE ŌLA'Ī EARTHQUAKES IN HAWAII

THE EARTHQUAKE POTENTIAL

Earthquakes occur frequently in Hawaii. Our island home is in a volcanic and tectonically active region with rifts, faults and fissures cutting through every one of the major islands. The tectonic process of the earth's moving crust builds stresses along the faults. This sudden release of stress causes earthquakes on land and undersea. Volcanic activity on the Big Island also creates minor tremors.

WHAT TO EXPECT IN AN EARTHQUAKE

During an earthquake, the "solid" earth moves like the deck of a ship. The actual movement of the ground, however, is seldom the direct cause of death or injury. Most casualties result from partial or total building collapse, falling objects, debris and shattering glass. Earthquakes may also trigger landslides, cause fires, and generate tsunamis (seismic sea waves).

If you feel a strong earthquake that makes you grab onto something to keep upright, and you are located in a tsunami inundation area, head for high ground. Don't wait for an announcement from Civil Defense. A locally generated tsunami leaves little time for warning. Act immediately!

The unique nature of the earthquake threat and potential disruption of life in Hawaii calls for preparedness actions at all levels...government, volunteer and private sector.

BEFORE AN EARTHQUAKE

Check your home for potential hazards at least annually. Defective electrical wiring and leaky gas or inflexible connections are very dangerous in the event of an earthquake. Bolt down water heaters and gas appliances. Know where and how to shut off utilities at main switches. Contact your local utility company for instructions. Place large and heavy objects on lower shelves. Securely fasten shelves to walls. Brace or anchor high or top-heavy objects. Store breakables in low or closed cabinets. Anchor overhead lighting fixtures such as chandeliers. Check for ceiling and foundation cracks and repair if needed.

HAVE ON HAND...

- a flashlight and battery-operated radio in case power is cut off.
- a supply of drinking water and nonperishable foods which can be prepared without cooking.
- a fire extinguisher and first aid kit.

URING AN EARTHQUAKE

First of all, stay calm. If you are inside, stay inside. If indoors, stay there. In earthquakes, most injuries occur as people are entering or leaving buildings. If indoors, take cover under a heavy desk, table, bench, a supported doorway, or along an inside wall. Stay away from glass. Don't use candles, matches or other open flame during or after the tremor because of possible gas leaks. If in a moving car, stop as quickly as safety permits, but stay in the vehicle. A car may sway violently on its springs, but it is a good place to stay until the shaking stops. When you drive on, watch for hazards created by the earthquake: fallen objects, downed electric wires or blocked roadways.

AFTER AN EARTHQUAKE

Be prepared for aftershocks. They can cause more damage to topple weakened structures. Check for injuries. Turn on your radio or TV for emergency information from local authorities. Check utilities. If leaks are detected, leave the building and don't reenter until an official says it's safe.

USE THE TELEPHONE ONLY IN CASE OF EMERGENCY. LISTEN TO YOUR RADIO FOR INFORMATION.

For more information, contact Maui County Civil Defense Agency, 200 So. High St., Wailuku, Hawaii 96793. Phone: 4-7721

BLOW
Yr'Self UP!
FOR 3 BUCKS
11x17" $4.50
FROM SLIDES
$1 MORE
Full Color Laser
Copy Service
MAUI MAGIC COLOR
250 Alamaha Kahului 871-6776

HISTORY OF THE PANDANUS TREE

According to an ancient legend, when Pele, Goddess of Fire and Volcanoes, first came to the Hawaiian Islands, her canoe was caught in the branches of a hala tree rising out of the ocean. Furiously angry, Pele pulled the hala tree up by its roots. Tearing the tree into bits, she cast it to the four winds, throwing the pieces as far as she could throw them. That is why, the ancients say, there are so many hala trees growing along the coastline.

And according to old songs, or mele, many of which are still sung in the islands, reference is often made to the superior quality of the hala grown close to the ocean. The ancient Hawaiians preferred it to that grown on the mountainsides.

"Naemae i ke pua o ka hala, ua maewa wale i ka poli o kahiawa."
(Clean is the hala that grows by the sea.)

Hala leis can be seen at many gala occasions, however there are times when it is not beneficial to wear a hala lei. According to legend, one day when Pele was journeying with a companion toward Hawaii she was presented with a hala lei. Pele held the lei in her hands for a time and then said, "This is significant of something. I am wondering what is before us."

As they walked on, a messenger ran toward them crying: "Come! Come and help us. Our Chief is dying."

"No," Pele replied. "Your chief is hala." And by this she meant that the chief was dead or gone. As this later proved to be true, it made a deep impression on her companions.

When embarking upon a business trip a hala lei should never be worn for it presupposes a sign of failure because of the double meaning of the word: hala meaning pandanus, but also meaning gone, or missed. Another tradition held that hala lei are always unlucky for a hula dancer, and some politicians even now consider hala leis very unlucky for them, and do not like to be presented with one, especially around election time.

The hala tree was so much a part of ancient Hawaiian life that there are many sayings, proverbs, and riddles referring to it. These are some examples:

"Her children are like the many-rooted hala of the mountainsides."

LAHAINA CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

LAHAINA INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL CAFETERIA

SUNDAY MORNING 9:00 TO 10:30 AM

SUNDAY EVENING 6:00 PM TO 7:30 PM

The Spirit and the bride say come,
Let him that hears say come. Let him that is athirst come and whosoever will, let him freely take the
water of life. —Revelation 22/17

DAIRY ROAD POST OFFICE and 24-HOUR TELEPHONE ANSWERING SERVICE

David "Pat" Figueira
Owner

250 Alamaha Street, N6, Suite 1 • Kahului, HI 96732
(808) 872-6000

NOTICE OF ADDRESS CHANGE!
Correspondents be informed that we are receiving mail for the Kama'aina News at: P.O. Box 33031, Kahului, HI 96733

"Thou art a hala lei about the neck of the wise."

"Puna is dizzy with the fragrance of the hala flower."

"Ha puhala ua oo, he pi, kuli paa, nana."
(Comparing a stingy man to the trunk of an old hala tree)

"Pala ke hala, momona ka uku."
(When the hala tree is ripe the uhu fish is fat.)

The ancient Hawaiians considered the pandanus or hala tree the most useful of all the trees growing on their islands. They used every part of the plant; the roots, the root fibers, the bark, the trunk, the aerial roots, and their buds, the leaves, the flowers, the fruit, and the seeds. They put the products of the tree to many other uses than the weaving of leaves, and the making of leis.

The hala tree was even believed to have contributed to the origin of man. According to an old legend, one of the beautiful, young Goddesses was busy cutting hala strips one day, when the shell trimmer slipped and cut her finger. The finger bled profusely. When the blood coagulated two eggs were formed from it, and from these eggs emerged the father and mother of the human race.

[The above has been extracted from THE STORY OF LAUHALA by E.W. Stall, Petroglyph Press, Hilo, ©1953.]

Vicarious kiss
illuminated desire
Love's rear view mirror

shali

1995-A Main Street
Wailuku, HI 96793-1796

ISLAND ANSWERING SERVICE
24 HOUR TELEPHONE ANSWERING SERVICE

EVA L. ARRUDA

(808) 244-9161

NEW-USED & RECAPPED TIRES
AT PRICES YOU CAN AFFORD!

MAUI DISCOUNT TIRES

Select From Our HUGE Stock - TIRES FOR ALL MAKES

■ PASSENGER CARS ■ SPORT CARS ■ ■ TRUCKS ■ IMPORTS ■ COMPACTS ■

891 ALUA ST.
WAILUKU INDUSTRIAL PARK

PH: 242-5741

BARTER BOARD

PAIR training, workshops, or therapy for use of small sailboat (John is licensed captain), weekly fresh vegetables & herbs, fresh fruit, fresh fish, gutter work, sprinkler repair, massages, facials, soundproofing, cement driveway work. Call 879-2766 or 879-0097.

Kama'aina News will trade advertising space for minivan and/or computer. 872-6036

Trade computer design services for whatchagotta trade. 244-3534

Haircuts Trade for ?? Call 872-6036

Upcountry Athletic Club Memberships 1-3 months, $57.20 per month value Open to barter - 872-6036

Free sailing and whale watching. Barter for help in boat upkeep. Call Steve in Lahaina 877-9328. lv. msg.

Manicures—Trade for? Call 872-6036

Will trade slenderizer treatments for whatchagotta-trade? Ph. 877-SLIM.

Kama'aina News will trade advertising space for copier that enlarges and reduces. 872-6036

Trade expert counseling, 20 yrs. exp. for computer. Call Dr. Berman, 575-2255.

Will trade— professional MASSAGE, iridology or tile work for auto mechanic, garden space, or ?? 872-6050

PETS & LIVESTOCK

FREE to good homes. Beautiful healthy kittens. White, black, red & grey tabbies. Free purebred dwarf rabbits. 572-7864

PERSONALS

Hawaiians call 575-9073 to register as a citizen for your sovereign nation. Ka Lahui Hawaii.

Success in Conquering the Urine Drug Tests. A complete guide. Send $5.00 + $1.00 shipping to F-D Brokers, Suite 319, Postal Center, Maui Mall, Kahului, HI 96732

RENTALS

ROOM, completely furnished, cable, washer/dryer, $350/mo. includes utilities. 572-2599 Leave message.

Perfect Location for Photo Processing Lab. 220 wiring, special plumbing, light proofing. 1,239 sq.ft. Avail. 4/1/90. Reasonable rate. Call 667-2286

CLASSIFIED SECTION

SERVICES

BED AND BREAKFAST at HOME SWEET HOME in Kihei $35 per night. 872-6036

BOOKKEEPING SERVICE. Computerized with custom reports. Spreadsheets and analysis. Call Reed at 572-7742

Good Taste Catering. Providing healthy, delicious cuisine for any group or party. Christine Shaw. 872-6012

COUNSELING BLESSINGS WEDDINGS Rev. Beverly Powers 669-4400 Hi. Lic# 88-89

TELEPHONE

CLASSIFIED SERVICE: If you rent or sell anything thru the classified ads, but don't have the time, the means or a phone to take all those calls, we will screen your calls, set up appointments & interviews, describe the items, give directions, etc. for just $1.50 a day. This service is available here on Maui. Call 872-6066 for more information!

Larry Singson's Upholstery, furniture, vehicles, marine craft, quality workmanship. Custom interiors, reasonable prices & free estimates: Ph. 572-6330

Quality camcorder, VCR, & stereo REPAIRS and have some good used equipment for sale. Call Mike Knowles 874-0995.

UPCOUNTRY HAMMER provides general home maintenance and repairs. Call for estimate: 572-2787, ask for Bill.

TRAVEL

HOUSTON —one way Delta Air from Maui — Male, $200. 572-2787

EMPLOYMENT

Guitarist/saxophonist/harpist/vocalist writer/arranger (one person) seeks keyboardist for recording & gigs. Alike, 877-0372

Meticulous solderer wanted for stained glass window construction. Hour-per-hour exchange for lessons, studio time and use of supplies. Must be enthusiastic and precise. Experience helpful but not necessary. Part time position. Call 575-9974 for more info.

SALES: Kama'aina News has sales positions in advertising paying 25% commission. Call 872-6036

WANTED

Need size 8/10 Cub Scout uniform and picture frames of any size or style in good condition. 661-5163.

Kihei Towne Antiques. Looking to buy jewelry, furniture, old, unusual estate sales. 879-8999 1945 S. Kihei Rd.

WANTED to buy: old Hawaii LICENSE PLATES prior to 1950. Maui milk bottles with "property of" Joe, 575-2869

Looking for refrigerators & washers. Working or not. Expert Repairs. 572-9255

Wanted: Home furnace heat unit. 878-2460

Looking for SPANISH GUITAR — wide neck style Phone 872-6036

Nine Muses Company buys and sells USED BOOKS. 572-2787

I collect and pay cash for OLD BOOKS, especially on Hawaii. 242-4372

BOATS

'87 16' Radon, center console, 40hp OB, gas tanks, 1989 trailer, built-in storage locker and fishing pole holders. Ready top fish or drive. Ex. cond. $7500. 879-8811

2 16' Hobie Cats w/trailer, many extras. $2600 obo. 572-6358

20' Fiberform boat, rebuilt outdrive. $8000 obo, many extras. 874-7617 or 579-9871

26' Folkboat SAILBOAT, 3 yrs old. Full keel beauty, cruising equipped, 19 days from Calif. Phone 572-6296

SAILBOAT 17 ft. all new gear and rigging. 6HP trailer 7 sails $3000 or trade for tools, etc. 879-3737

15' Fiberglass outrigger SAILBOAT. $450. 879-2893

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

BUSINESS FOR SALE: LOVE RENT-A-CARS FOR SALE $10,000. Financing available. Phone 872-6036

If a popsicle plant can make 6,000 pops a day, (at a cost of 25 cents per pop) five days a week (and sell at a whls. price of 50 cents) 52 weeks of the year (without disturbing the animals) how many investors would be interested enough to call 579-8674 for further details?

PUBLICATIONS

COPS 'N DOPERS. A classic, informative comic book from 1976 by Andrew Von Sonn. This unique law book was first sold through PLAYBOY and HIGH TIMES book reviews and sold five thousand copies which was the first printing. Andy describes his delightful book as "A people's guide to the 4th Amendment or how to avoid a bust." Written in English and Spanish. To order send $10 to ANDREW VON SONN, P.O. Box 994, Lahaina, HI. 96767-0994.

VISITING EXPATS—free copy expat newsletter. Sent worldwide. Ad to: 777 Kapiolani, #1725, Honolulu, HI 96813

FOR SALE - GENERAL

BACK ISSUES of Kama'aina News: $1.65. 872-6036

For Sale ANTIQU SHAKER CHEESE BOXES. Brass and wooden pegged. Reasonable. 874-4310

Senco-Sen 200R Oil-fed ROOF NAILER gun & nails. $360. 572-7750

Ricoh CAMERA 35mm XRS. 2 lenses, camera bag & cleaning equipment. $220. 572-7750

FOR SALE. Electric Exercise cycle, adjusts for height and weight. Only privately owned. Very good condition. $400. 661-0380.

MODEMS for your Mac and IBM compatibles are really reduced at MAC CONCEPTS. Check them out at 335 Hoohana St. #F in Kahului. You can phone them at 871-6058. I just got mine and am amazed at the enormity of information that is now available and at my finger tips. Just to input the various services available into my own brain has excited me and supercharged my initiative. If you don't have a modem for your computer you are operating at retarded capacity. Massie/Editor.

EDUCATIONAL VIDEO catalog of 2000 hard-to-find instructional, motivational & self-help titles. $2.95. 572-2758. Mention this ad: $2.95 coupon.

Begin & end your gift shopping with a gift that everyone loves: FLUTE & HARP MUSIC. Call to listen and order $9.95 tapes at 661-7655

Engagement Ring, gold and diamond. $800. 572-7962

Cancer is a cure for smoking.

HOUSEHOLD

Complete portable PA system $15000 / TV & VCR $5500 / BALDWIN upright PIANO $3500. Call Doug, 877-7171, Ext. 1602#

SMALL FRIG, 18"x18"x20" high, 1.5 cubic ft. As New. $95. John 661-4660.

ANTIQU SOLID OAK DOOR, made in 1909, 28"x67"x1 5/8". Has mirror one side $360. J.M. 661-4660.

"Go Anywhere" GRILL. Webers 14" #10001. New in shipping box. $25. 669-7703

FOR SALE - GEN

COMPLETE DARKROOM Omega 4-color head Enlarger plus extras: $650 or best offer. 669-4400

GEORGE ALLAN Original signed painting. 4' X 5', blue & white flowers. $10,000 OBO. 872-6036

ImageWriter II PRINTER for Apple Mac or IIfx/IIc. Make Offer. 878-6700

56 cm. Vitus RACING BIKE, brand new, all Campy Super Record, Mavic wheels, top of the line. 572-2793

New software: FORM-FILLER. Fill out any form on your PC. $69.95. Well St. Computing, 242-5585

Steel L-shaped DESK for typewriter. 6 drawers, wood-grained top. $299. Susan, 572-8795, 572-6705

New Software: PERSONAL LAWYER. Draw up your own legal documents on your PC. $69.95. Well St. Computing, 242-5585

Professional sturdy TRIPOD for videocamera. Fluid head, carrying case, like new. $695. Susan, 572-8795, 572-6705.

SYNTHESIZER: Professional, Lots of features, easy to use. Perfect student model. $400 with hard case & free lessons. Alike, 877-0372

DX7 great condition, excellent workhorse. Good friend must sell $700 to a good home. Alike, 877-0372

PA SYSTEM includes 2 Electro-Voice speakers, 6 channel mixer/amp, cables, covers. Excellent condition. $775. Ph. 572-2390

HOUSEHOLD

Twin ROLLAWAY BED $60. 50 pc. FLATW set $20. LONG SPEA $20. SEAR BIRK 20" $60. MUU-MUU and Dress $11 each. 877-4544

KITCHEN TBL & CHR Office chair, small drafting table, quality wmn's clothing, boots, shoes 242-5526 lv msg.

Brand new Young Chang Piano, ivory finish w/bench & dehumidifier & volume control pedal. $2800 OBO. Excellent condition. 572-5676

2 RATTAN COUCHES, dining room set & 15 house plants. 874-7617

FOOD PROCESSOR $50. NINTENDO tapes: Dragon Warrior, Ahea, Renegade $30 each. 877-4544

ENCYCLOPEDIA, Childcraft & World Book. I am your World Book representative. Call Star, 575-2468

PICTURES & frames from hotel, complete with glass. Must see. Bargain at $20 each. Phone 661-3940. Ask for Larry or Diana.

ROWING MACHINE, like new, Precor 612. $225. 879-8758

For sale: Size 9 ROLLER-BLADES — similar to roller skates. Great exercise. $60 OBO. 874-8052 lv message.

600 watt SINE WAVE INVERTER $450; 2 deep cycle BATTERIES $110; L-shaped DESK w/6 drawers $299; armless swivel office CHAIR $45. Ph. 572-6294

Nine Muses Company buys and sells USED BOOKS. 572-2787

TRIPOD FOR VIDEO CAMERA, $495, 600 w. inverter, $450, 2 deep-cycle batteries, $55 ea. 572-6294 LIKE NEW.

GALLERY TRAK SPOT LIGHTING. Make Halo. 25 lights $18 ea. Also free standing gallery stand, 8' long 6 1/10" high, ends 6"x6"10" high. J.M. 661-4660.

Beautiful CEDAR COTTAGE w/complete solar system and water catchment - must be moved. Only $10,000. Call Doug, 877-7171, Ext. 1602#

Large supply of NITROGEN PACKED FOOD: grains, seeds, etc. Call Doug, 877-7171, Ext. 1602#

FOR SALE - AUTO

LAB 1980, 4dr, hatch, roof, 4 spd, good condition, needs paint, must sell. Asking $3200 OBO. Call 248-8383

'88 HONDA CRX AM/FM
cass. Excl. cond. $9000 obo.
572-9663

'87 NISSAN SENTRA 5
spd., tinted windows & custom rims, excellent cond.
$1500 dn & take over payments. 572-9641

FREE C

'83 OLDS CUTLASS 4dr.,
A/C, P/S, good tires, new battery. BARGAIN! Below
bluebook at $3300. Ph. 879-8769

'72 DATSUN Original Maui Cruiser, runs good. Lots of rust. $350. Call 244-0420 Darlene.

[illegible]

ADULTERY AND THE FEMINIST MISTAKE

by Cal Thomas

©1990, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

I guess we can add Effi Barry, wife of Washington D.C.'s embattled mayor, to the sad list of women who choose to suffer in silence or explain away the extramarital wanderings of their husbands rather than taking a stand to protect their dignity.

For too long, high-profile political and other leaders have escaped public indictment for their adulterous affairs, and by their silent acquiescence some of their wives have been tacit co-conspirators in their philanderings. Recall the tortured face of Lee Hart as husband Gary praised her "courage" following reports of his wanderings from home and hearth.

One wonders about the inner thoughts of the expressionless Frances Swaggart when she learned that husband Jimmy had been cruising for prostitutes way down yonder in New Orleans. It would have been helpful to other women similarly offended to hear some public outrage from her to show the pain that is caused by such behavior. Jimmy may have felt bad about what he did, but Frances was the innocent victim.

Perhaps saddest of all is Mrs. Barry's response to her husband's widely reported affairs. Two years ago, she told a local TV reporter, "You have to be philosophical, and you have to be a realist. There is a caliber of female in this world, for whatever her own personal needs might be, who tends to gravitate toward a power figure. It has always been that way, and unfortunately, will continue to be that way."

Alluding to revelations of extramarital affairs of any number of presidents, members of Congress and other public officials over the years, Mrs. Barry said, "This kind of involvement is a necessary nuisance that the wife of a power figure has to deal with."

As Big Daddy said in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Bull!"

Rasheeda Moore, the woman who lured Barry to that hotel room, was reported by the Washington Post to have done it because "at the height of her relationship with Barry" a few years ago, she was "upset" by the suspicion "that he was involved with other women, including some of her friends."

As columnist Russell Baker retorted, "Some of her friends! What about the mayor's wife?"

That some women may reluctantly accept adultery as part of the package that goes with being married to a power figure is no excuse for other women not to hold these wanderers accountable.

The longer women remain silent while their husbands commit adultery, the more acceptance it will gain. Pretty soon no man will think he has anything to lose from a little "fling."

My wife has let me know in advance what my fate would be should I ever decide to lust after other women. It is not a pretty thought to contemplate.

This is the type of strong attitude men and women ought to have toward their marriage, a sanctified relationship. But in an age of television, films, rock music and pornographic magazines that often portray fidelity as an outdated virtue, marriage has been trivialized and sacrificed on the altar of momentary physical pleasure.

Just once I would like to hear the united voices of feminist and non-feminist women raised against these wandering minstrels of adultery. And it wouldn't hurt to hear a few male voices in the chorus, too, men who are still honoring the promise they made before God and witnesses to love, honor and cherish their wives and to forsake all others until death parts them.

Poor Effi Barry may think adultery comes with the territory. There are plenty of women and men who believe otherwise. Now is their chance to say so and send an important message to our society that will strengthen marriage, the family and the country.

"FACE IT, MARION...IT'S GONNA BE A LONG CAMPAIGN..."

KOMPUTER KORNER BY EYAL BYTE

As I said in our last installment, this issue I will provide numbers of various computer bulletin boards where you can find all sorts of interesting stuff. I like that word, stuff. I decided I wouldn't list the numbers of the national BBSs because they are easily found. Instead I will list some of the less-well-known ones.

As far as I can find out, the numbers are all "voice" numbers (except where noted), call for information and you will be talking to a real, live person. If you are answered by a high screeching sound, it's a modem line so call back using your modem. Or maybe it's just someone having a bad day...

Addresses are listed where available so you can write first if you want. I have tried to type accurately but, just in case I goofed, I take no responsibility for any mistakes. Nor do I accept any responsibility for you phone bills!

And if you have any specific type of database in mind and don't know where to find it, drop me a line at this paper and I will try and find where to get what you want.

Access: Legislative Information Service: State of Hawaii; 800-628-4229(modem line) State legislative documents, timetable, etc.

The Bible Library: Ellis Enterprises, 4205 McAuley Blvd., Suite 315, Oklahoma City, Okla 73120; 800-729-9500

Climate Assessment Bulletin Board: National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration; 301-763-8071

Damar Online Real Estate Information System: Damar Real Estate Information Service, 3550 W. Temple St., Los Angeles, CA 90004; 800-873-2627

Dailog (gateway to lots of databases): Dialog Information Services, Inc., 3460 Hillview Ave., Palo Alto, CA 94304; 800-334-2564. Special services and rates available for schools.

Dow Jones News/Retrieval: Dow Jones & Company, Inc., P.O. Box 300, Princeton, NJ 08543-0300; 800-522-3567

Dun & Bradstreet Online Services: The Dun & Bradstreet Corp., 299 Park Ave., New York, NY 10171; 212-593-6800

EasyNet (gateway to over 800 databases): Telebase Systems, Inc., 763 W. Lancaster Ave., Bryn Mawr, PA 19010; 800-421-7616. Also available as IQuest on CompuServe.

Economic Bulletin Board: Department of Commerce; 202-377-3870 (modem line) This BBS has an informal listing of BBS systems run by government personnel.

Lexis/Nexis: Mead Data Central, P.O. Box 933, Dayton Ohio 45401; 800-227-4908

Online Public Access Catalog: Hawaii State Public Library system catalog; 1-523-8790 (modem line, toll-free access not yet available) or 1-548-5585 (voice line, ask for Vernon Tam or Valyrie Walter). Hours: Sun 1 am to midnight, Mon 1 am to 11 pm, Tue-Sat am to 11 pm.

Prentice Hall Online: Prentice Hall Legal and Financial Services, 1900 E. Fourth St., Ste 130, Santa Ana, CA 92705; 800-333-0431

Toxic Chemical Release Inventory: National Library of Medicine's Toxnet system, 301-496-6531

U.S. Naval Institute Military Database: United States Naval Institute, Annapolis, MD. 21402-5035; 301-261-2700

WestLaw: West Publishing Co., 50 W. Kellogg Blvd., P.O. Box 64526, St. Paul, Minn. 55164-0526; 800-328-0109

Next time: some smaller bulletin boards.

KAMA'AINA NEWS MESSAGE TO MAUI'S LOCAL ARTISTS

The Kama'aina News is interested in acquiring sketches, graphics, cartoons, borders, fillers, and other miscellaneous art to enhance the format of our paper. If you have such art and wish to exchange it for exposure and/or advertising of your work or other related activities in our publications, please contact the managing editor at 872-6036.

MAHALO

FAST DELIVERY

Ocean Front Dining in Lahaina
•New York Style Made Fresh Daily
•Pizzas •Salads

Lahaina WIKI WIKI PIZZA

661-5686

1285 Front Street
Across from Cannery on Ocean

10% Kama'aina Discount With This Coupon

PEOPLE REALLY READ THE KAMA'AINA NEWS!

WHY? BECAUSE WE ARE AN OPEN FORUM FREE PRESS WITH STIMULATING COVERAGE OF REAL ISSUES AND REAL PEOPLE. AND WHERE ARE THEY READING IT?

THE KAMA'AINA NEWS IS AVAILABLE AT THE FOLLOWING LOCATIONS

KAHULUI: Ah Fook's Supermarket • Airport Flower & Fruit • Akamai Tours • National Rent A Car • Alamo Rent A Car • Sunshine Rent A Car • Andres Rent A Car • Trans Maui Rent A Car • Charton U Drive • Coral Outlet • Faught & Miyashiro • Foodland • Gilbert & Associates • Grayline • Hawaiian Helicopters Heliport • Kahului Airport/Commuter Terminal • Kahului Airport/Hawaii Visitors Bureau • Kahului Airport/Heliport • Kahului Airport/Stand • Kahului Airport/United Terminal • Maui Beach • Maui Mall • Maui Palms • Maui Chamber of Commerce • Maui Rent A Jeep • Maui Seaside & Hukilau • Maui Visitor's Bureau • Union 76 Gas Station - Minit Stop • Maui Wine & Liquor • Pay & Save • Maui Mountain Cruisers • Party Pantry • Roberts of Hawaii • Safeway • Shell Station/Dairy Rd. • Sizzler Steak House • South Sea Helicopters/Heliport • Sugar Plantation Store • Sunshine Helicopters/Heliport • Sunshine Rent A Car • Thrifty Rent A Car • Tropical Rent A Car • United Rent A Car • Uptown Rent A Car • Chevron • Kahului Public Library • WAILUKU: Catapult Productions • Maui Printing Company • Shell Station • Tasty Crust • Wailuku Public Library • WAIKAPU: Waikapu Store • KIHAI: Azeka's Activities • Azeka's Market • Dolphin Mall • Foodland • Hale Hui Kai • Hale Kai O'Kihei • Hale Kamaole • Hale Pau Hana • Island Fish House • Kamaole Beach Club • Kamaole Beach Mall • Kamaole Royal • Kamaole Maui • Kamaole Nalu • Kamaole Sands • Kamaole Shopping Center • Kealia Beach Plaza • Kealia Condo • Kihei Akahi • Kihei Alii Kai • Kihei Beach • Kihei Garden Estates • Kihei Holiday • Kihei Kai • Kihei Public Library • Kihei Resort • Kihei Sands • Kihei Surfside • Koa Loggon • Koa Resort • Kukui Mall • Lau Lea (Maui Beach Club) • Leinaala • Lihi Kai • Luana Kai • Maalaea Surf Resort • Mana Kai • Maui Lu Resort • Maui Dive Shop • Maui Park Shoes • Menehune Shores • Molokini Dive Shop • Nani Kai Hale • Nonolani Cottage • Paradise Rent A Car • Party Pantry • Rainbow Mall • Royal Mauian • The Shores of Maui • Star Market • Suda Store • Sugar Beach • Surf & Sand • Village by the Sea • Vacation Rentals • MAALAEA: Hono Kai Resort • Island Sands • Kani A Kalu • Lau Loa Resort • Maalaea Activities • Maalaea Island Fish • Maalaea Store • Maalaea Yacht Marina • WAILEA-MAKENA: Ekahi • Ekeolu • Makena Surf • Maui Inter-Continental • Maui Prince Hotel • Ocean Activities Center • Wailea Town Center • OLOWALU: Olowalu Store • LAHAINA: Puamana • Lahaina Shores • 505 Front • The Wharf • Pioneer Inn • Hilo Hattie's • Longhi's • Lahaina Business Plaza • Activity Information Center • Nagasako's Store • Foodland • Lahainaluna Party Pantry • Dickenson Square • Health Food Store • Take Home Maui • Ocean House Activities • Maui Discoveries • Maui Go Round • Maui Islander • Sugar Cane Train • Bakery • Alamo Rent A Car • Avis Rent A Car • Budget Rent A Car • Hertz Rent A Car • Tropical Rent A Car • Blackie's Boat Yard • Lahaina Public Library • KAA NAPALI: International Colony Club • Kaanapali Plantation • Maui Eldorado • Royal Lahaina • Maui Sheraton • Kaanapali Beach Hotel • Maui Beach Center • Hyatt Regency • Kaanapali Alii • Pearls International • MAHANA: Mahana • Maui Kai • Embassy Suites • Scrappy's Activities • Papakea • Kaanapali Shores • HONOKOWAI: Maui Sands • Paki Maui • Maui Park Inn • Honokowai Superette • Honokowai Palms • Hale Maui • Pikake • Makani Sands • Kula Kane • Hale One Loa • Hale Napili • Kaleialoha • Kuleana • Lokelani • Mahina Surf • KAHANA: Valley Isle Resort • Royal Kahana • Kahana Village • Kahana Sunset • Kahana Reef • Kahana Beach Resort • Holo Lani • Dollie's • MAHINAHINA: Hale Ono Loa • Hale Royale • Hoyochi Nikko • Kaleialoha • Kuleana • Lokelani • Mahina Surf • Makani Sands • Noelani • Polynesian Shores • NAPILI: Napili Point • Noho Nani • Coconut Inn • KAPALUA: Kapalua Bay Hotel • Bay Villas • Golf Villas • West Maui Airport • Market Cafe • The Ridge • Hale Royale • Hoyochi Nikko • Lokelani • Mauian • Polynesian Shores • HONOLUA: Honolulu Store • PAIA: Maui Country Club • Dillon's Restaurant • Nagata's General Store • Paia General Store • Smile's Service Station • Picture This Gallery • Charley's Restaurant • Kau's Flowers • Paia Video • Vegan Restaurant • Things From the Past • MAKAWAO: Casanova's Italian Deli • Komoda's Store • Makawao Shell Station • Rodeo General Store • Upcountry Fishery • Makawao Feed Garden & Hardware • Makawao Public Library • Circle of the Sun Cafe • PUKALANI: Bullock's Restaurant • McDonald's Restaurant • Pukalani Country Club • Pukalani Pro Shop • Pukalani Terrace Restaurant • Pukalani Terrace Shopping Center • Foodland • Ian's Restaurant • Pukalani Square Shopping Center • Maui Island Investments • Pukalani Square Party Pantry • Pukalani Superette • KULA: Sunrise Market • Ching Store • Fong Store • Kula Lodge • Moyihara Store • Kula Country Store • HANA: Hasegawa General Store • Hana Public & School Library • LANAI: Lanai Public and School Library • MOLOKAI: Molokai Public Library • HAIKU: Fukushima's Market • Haiku Mart • Ohashi's General Store • Hanzawa's T. Store • Upcountry Hammer • Goodtaste Catering • Nine Muses Co. •

A PAPER BY THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE...

Kama'aina Girl

Tiare Lee

Tiare Lee, our Kama'aina Girl, works as a beautician—hair stylist at The Cutting Room in Wialuku. She's a real Maui girl. Call the Cutting Room at 242-6080 for one of Tiare's great cuts.

STUDIO 44

Full Service Studio
Black & White Services

242-8809

BLACK
AND
WHITE LAB

44 N. Market St.
In Old Wailuku

[Photo Courtesy Studio 44]

Kama'aina News
P.O. Box 33031
Kahului, HI 96733

STUDIO 44

Full Service Studio
Black & White Services

242-8809

BLACK
AND
WHITE LAB

44 N. Market St.
In Old Wailuku